STATE TRAFFIC TOLL HIGH

Adjournment of Assembly May Suffer Setback

Appropriation Logjam Blamed; Senate Gets Budget Cuts

HARRISBURG (UP) — A possible logjam on appropriation bills may upset plans of the Republican leadership to wind up the 1957 General Assembly by June 15.

Although the House approved and sent to the Senate Wednesday the $1,107,000,000 General Appropriation Bill, Senate GOP leaders hinted they may give further study to Republican plans to cut $94,500,000 from Gov. George M. Leader's budget.

In the House, meanwhile, the Democratic minority was in a position to block temporarily the adjournment drive by withholding some votes for the so-called "non-preferred" appropriations for state-aided colleges, universities and hospitals.

Those appropriations require a two-thirds majority and at least 14 or 15 House Democrats would have to join a solid House Republican bloc to clear the bills to the Senate.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said if the Democratic votes are forthcoming early next week, the Legislature still could adjourn finally by June 15.

Another possible roadblock to that target date looms if several Democratic senators carry out their threat to filibuster against the GOP budget slashes.

The threats were posed recently by Sens. Joseph J. Yosko (Northampton) and William J. Lane (Washington).

Asks Full Hearing

And Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) said after House passage of the General Appropriations Bill Wednesday that his delegation "will use every parliamentary means at its disposal" to get a full hearing on the budget.

The governor urged the Senate to "think long and hard" before acting on the appropriation measures.

"In particular, I urge the Republican members of the Senate to recognize that the dictates of conscience must always take precedent over the dictates of a caucus," he said. "It is inconceivable that the Republicans in the Senate, at the command of a handful of leaders, will scuttle the programs that expand industrial development, build new plants, create new jobs, build new parks, educate our children, cure the mentally ill, help handicapped children, control floods and help Pennsylvania in many other ways.

"Members of the Senate will solve none of these problems by ramming through these budget cuts and then going home."

Both chambers quit for the week late Wednesday because of the Memorial Day holiday. The House will reconvene Monday at 11 a.m. edt and the Senate at 3 p.m.

Three Indicted in 'Pike Investigation

HARRISBURG (UP) — A Dauphin County grand jury today indicted three persons in its initial presentment in the second phase of the investigation into affairs of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

The regular grand jury returned four indictments covering perjury, bribery and conspiracy charges which had been ecommended by a special grand jury April 12.

Those indicted were Victor P. Prep, Frackville, owner of the Prep Co.; Donald S. Heagy, Camp Hill, former turnpike purchasing agent, and August H. Brentari, Harrisburg, who succeeded Heagy as purchasing agent.

Prep was cited on perjury and bribery counts; Bentari for alleged bribery and conspiracy, and Heagy on a conspiracy charge.

Others Considered

District Attorney Huette F. Dowling said he expected the grand jury to complete its investigation today. He was uncertain, however, whether indictments would be returned against all 26 cited by the special grand jury on a variety of charges involving alleged profiting through irregularities in contract letting, expense padding, insurance, automobile purchases and "free work."

A total of 57 witnesses were on hand to testify before the grand jury, if needed.

The special grand jury had cited former Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, and two members of the commission currently under suspension—Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh, and Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export.

The three are among 23 persons awaiting trial in the first phase of the investigation which involved contracts for mine filling work under the Northeastern Extension of the turnpike.

Bandits Invade Doctor's Home: Leave with $450

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Two bandits invaded the home of Dr. J. Huber Wagner, retired chief surgeon of U.S. Steel Corp., and kept the physician and his wife prisoners for nearly an hour on Thursday as they ransacked the house.

Dr. Wagner told police he awoke to find two men armed with pistols in his bedroom. They demanded money and the doctor told them his wallet, containing $450, was in a chest of drawers.

The robbers demanded more. They forced Dr. Wagner, an All-American football player at the University of Pittsburgh in 1913, and his wife to lie down on the floor and bound their hands and feet.

The bandits repeatedly asked Dr. Wagner where his wall safe was and he told them he had none.

"It was an harassing 35 or 45 minutes, maybe an hour," said Dr. Wagner. "Time, you know, gets distorted in such circumstances."

Before leaving, the thugs jerked out the telephone wires. Dr. Wagner worked himself free and called police from the home of a neighbor.

Goat's Cheese Blamed for Mass Food Poisoning

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Authorities today indicated a cheese made from goat's milk was responsible for an epidemic of food poisoning that raged through a picnic at a Serbian monastery. At least 65 persons were stricken by the tainted food.

The epidemic struck at the Serbian Orthodox Monastery near here where some 1,000 persons from three states gathered for Memorial Day observances.

Victims of the food poisoning were rushed to hospitals in Libertyville, Waukegan, Highland Park, and Wheeling. Police and sheriff's cars, buses, ambulances and private automobiles made up the convoy which carried the moaning victims away for treatment.

During the picnic at which lamb, pork and cheese were served, monks, their guests and children began rolling to the ground clasping their stomachs in agony.

The Rev. Timothy Tepsic of the monastery said "They were dropping like flies."

Following the feast, samples from the menu were carried to the state health laboratories in Chicago for investigation.

Norris Froelich, chief sheriff's deputy, said a Greek dairy product made of goat's milk, feta cheese, apparently was responsible for the plague. He said the cheese ordinarily is found in a hard state, but was discovered to be in liquid form at the picnic.

Memorial Day Observed Here

The Rev. David J. Dillon Jr., pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church, Monessen, told a Memorial Day crowd of several hundred at Grandview cemetery yesterday morning we are heaven-blessed to live in America.

These blessings were given us by those boys who paid the supreme sacrifice in defense of our nation during the great wars. The Rev. Mr. Dillon said.

Along with these blessings. The Rev. Mr. Dillon said, we also have obligations which must be assumed.

"We must know and uphold the doctrines of the Constitution, we must serve on local committees interested in the betterment of the community and nation, we must read the papers and know what is going on in the world, we must keep in touch with our congressmen, we must visit and cheer disabled veterans and most important of all, we must become an active and faithful member of a church of our choice.

"These and scores of other constructive works can help create a reality to this day throughout every day of the year," The Rev. Mr. Dillon said.

These words were delivered at the annual Memorial Day services held for Monessen's war dead by members of the Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Thomas McKee Post 28, American Legion.

Woman Lies 20 Days At Scene of Crash

RAWLINS, Wyo. (UP)—The 45-year-old survivor of a light plane crash, who lived beside her dead husband on a lonely mountain top for 20 days on only three candy bars and melted snow, was reported in good condition today in a Rawlins hospital.

Although search planes flew within sight of the wreckage several times and a group of sheep herders once camped only two or three miles away, Mrs. Le Masurier was not spotted until Thursday. She was sighted by Jael Putnam, foreman of the Buzzard Ranch, who was looking for stray cows with a pair of binoculars.

A rescue party set out at dawn today to remove Le Masurier's body from the crash scene.

Huge Reservoir System Bill Is Slightly Delayed

Must Return To Legislature For Amendments

HARRISBURG (UP)—Enabling legislation to permit construction of a series of reservoirs to serve south - central and southwestern Pennsylvania must be returned to the Legislature for technical amendments.

Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland), one of 10 co-sponsors of the bipartisan legislation, said the 250 million dollar reservoir system would supply water for industries in six counties if and when such a system is built.

The dams would be constructed in Somerset. Fayette and Westmoreland counties but the water impounded would also supply communities in Allegheny, Washington and Greene counties, Dent said. Plans call for the system to be constructed by the American Waterworks Co. headed by John Ware, of Philadelphia, Dent said

The legislation originally went to Gov. George M. Leader's desk May 23 after enactment by both House and Senate without a dissenting vote. Leader had until June 3 to decide what course to follow on the bill. But if it is recalled for revision, he will have an additional 10 days after it again clears the Legislature.

Establish Authorities

Under the legislation, the various counties involved would be empowered to establish "County Water Supply Authorities" to issue bonds to finance their share of the cost of the project.

The county authorities would have the right through eminent domain procedure to purchase whatever property would be needed and petition local courts for the relocation of any roads which would be inundated or otherwise made useless by the project.

Owners of mines whose surface water might pollute the proposed water supply could be made to remedy the condition through equity suits brought in the courts.

Other sponsors of the measure included Sens. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford); Frank Kopriver (R-Allegheny); William J Lane (D-Washington); Thomas J. Kalman (D-Fayette); Irving Whalley (R-Somerset); Joseph M. Barr (D-Allegheny); Bernard B. McGinnis (D-Allegheny); Theodore H. Schmidt (D-Allegheny) and Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny).

Ware's plan was said to call for the building of one dam eight miles east of Connellsville to tap Indian Creek. Communities in surrounding counties would be supplied with water through a 42-mile tunnel.

Carnahan Goes Before Police Board Today

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Lt. Allen Carnahan, wounded by his own gun in a downtown after-hours club Feb. 24, goes before a police trial board today to answer charges growing out of the shooting.

Top police officers and a girl who was acquitted in the pre-dawn shooting, were scheduled to testify at the long-delayed hearing on the incident which rocked the city police force with "cover - up" charges.

In addition to Carnahan the witnesses included Shirley Cavanaugh, 28, cleared earlier this week of felonious shooting charges: Public Safety Director Louis Rosenberg, Police Supt James W. Slusser; Asst. Supt. Lawrence J. Maloney and other officers.

Carnahan, who changed his version of the shooting several times, is charged formally with conduct unbecoming an officer. He has been suspended from the force.

Specifically he is charged on three counts:

—Making erroneous and misleading statements in connection with a shooting involving himself

—Handling in an unprofessional and inexpert manner his revolver, permitting it to discharge.

—Associating with a person or persons of questionable repute wherein he brought disrespect to the Bureau of Police

Miss Cavanaugh was acquitted in the shooting when Carnahan testified it was accidental. That was his original version, which he had changed

The trial board was composed of Inspector Albert J. Jones, chairman, Inspector Thomas Martin and Lt William R. Bradnick. It has no power to discipline Carnahan but can make recommendations to the safety director and the mayor for action.

Carnahan could appeal any action to the Civil Service Commission and subsequently the Common Pleas Court.

Louis Glasso, attorney for the former head of the narcotics and vice squad, said he would call Rosenberg, Slusser and Maloney to the stand in his attempt to show Carnahan was a "good policeman."

Father, Daughters Killed

A private plane crashed in flames near Weston, Neb., Thursday, killing Jesse W. Meyers, 35, Omaha, Neb, and his daughters, Susan Kay, 7, and Sherry Lee, 5

A wheel flew off a speeding race car at Shippenville, Pa., before some 4,000 fans, killing two children as it sliced into the crowded stands and injuring three other persons.

Although most of the nation enjoyed pleasant weather Thursday, tornadoes and severe thunderstorms broke out in sections of the West.

Twisters hit Iowa causing minor damage, and about six tornado funnels were spotted near Dallas, Tex. Heavy rains accompanying the storm threatened to touch off new floods in the Fort Worth, Tex, area.

Leader Okays 'Stop-gap' Bill

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M. Leader has signed legislation appropriating 65 million dollars for the expenses of the Commonwealth until the Legislature enacts the regular biennial appropriations.

The 1957-59 fiscal period begins Saturday.

One "stop-gap" bill provides 50 million dollars to pay the ordinary and general expenses of the state government, while a second earmarks 15 million dollars for relief payments.

The governor pointed out the state Constitution provides that no money shall be paid out of the treasury except upon appropriations made by law.

Boy Found; Returned To His Titled Parents

CHICAGO (UP) — A 14-year-old boy who ran away from home to gain "self-assurance and maturity" had no regrets today despite the anguish his six-week disappearance caused his titled Italian parents.

The boy, Vittorio Barattieri, lost his self-assurance momentarily on Thursday night when he bumped his head against a low doorway while descending from the plane that brought him home from New York.

The tall, slender son of the Italian consul general to Chicago was accompanied by his parents, Count and Countess Ludovico Barattieri.

"Toto," as he is called by the family, was shy with reporters at first but soon was conversing with them easily. He said he had "no regrets" about his spur-of-the-moment decision to run off to New York with $120 in his pockets six weeks ago.

"I thought I had fun," he said.

His parents, who had borne the long month and a half of anxiety, were relaxed also. The Count patted the handsome youth on the shoulder and reasserted he planned no disciplinary action. "I don't believe in punishment," he said.

Asked about Vittorio's appearance, the Count said, "He's a little thinner — a little paler. I think he'll stay home now."

"Nothing else matters, so long as he's home now," said the Countess.

Vittorio, who was the object of a nationwide search, was discovered Friday by the FBI as he strolled down a New York street. An "alert citizen" who recognized the youth from his pictures had tipped authorities.

Batista Takes Over Campaign Against Rebels

HAVANA (UP) — President Fulgencio Batista today took over the military campaign against Cuba's rebels. There were indications he would set up "death zones" in southeastern Cuba to stem rebel infiltration.

Army general headquarters disclosed a new general operations command, headed by Batista, had been set up to stamp out the rebel threat in Oriente Province. Maj. Gen. Francisco Tabernilla also said Cuban army reinforcements already have been rushed into the region.

There were indications that the new plan of action already may have begun. The government newspaper Tiempo reported naval warships shelled rebel positions in the neighborhood of Chivirico, 50 miles west of Santiago. The newspaper said Cuban warplanes also strafed the insurgent forces.

Tiempo identified the rebels as the force which participated in an apparently successful attack against the army garrison at Ubero in the Sierra Maestra Mts. The army reported 11 soldiers were killed. Unofficial reports claimed the rebels took 25 prisoners and the garrison's arsenal.

Slaying Motive May Be Jealousy

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. (UP) —State police said today jealousy may have been the motive for the slaying of Judy Barber, 19, New Wilmington high school senior who was found strangled with a sweeper cord in her home last Tuesday.

Police said her slayer may have been Ted Fordney, 29, a postal worker who was found shot to death with a shotgun by his side in the yard of his home shortly after the girl's body was found. Fordney and Judy had dated.

Sgt. Harold Rice of the state police said a Westminster College student had spent the evening before the slaying at Judy's home watching television. During the evening, the student, whose name was withheld, saw someone peeking in the window.

Syrians, Egyptians Blamed by Lebanese For Series of Riots

By UNITED PRESS

Lebanese authorities in Beirut blamed Syrians, Egyptians and Communists today for attempting to overthrow the pro-Western government in angry riots Thursday which killed seven persons and injured 73.

The pro-government newspaper Annahar reported the arrest of two Syrian officers in civilian clothes and said they were captured while inciting rioters to overthrow the government of President Camille Chamoun.

The independent newspaper El Beyrak said "foreign money" was behind the riots in which shooting, stone-tossing mobs battled for 90 minutes with police and soldiers during a "general strike" that failed to come off.

Lebanese authorities said the "foreign money" came from Egypt, Syria and Communists agents and that the anti-government plot resembled similar attempts to overthrow King Hussein of Jordan.

One source said the uprising had been planned for a month "in complicity with the military belonging to the Arab armies." Newspapers gave prominent displays to reports Russian-made Syrian arms were found on some of the 200 demonstrators arrested.

The arrested included two former premiers—Abdullah Yafi and Saeb Salam. Salam was confined to a hospital with injuries suffered during the fighting. The arrest of other political figures was expected shortly.

While the Lebanon's relations with Syria and Egypt worsened, a new crisis appeared to be in the making over Israeli passage through the Gulf of Aqaba.

Jerusalem dispatches said reports were received there that Egypt was reorganizing its Red Sea fleet to renew the nine-year blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba. Much of the fleet was destroyed during the invasion of Egypt but reports received in Jerusalem said Egypt had been supplied four submarines and four new minelayers by the Communists.

Egypt's semi-official Middle East News Agency quoted reports from the Sudanese Foreign Ministry that Israel planned to drop paratroops into Egypt and Saudi Arabia if Israeli ships are molested in the gulf.

The agency said such an action would mean "World War."

Crucial Debate Opens in Italy

ROME (UP)—Premier Adone Zoli went before the Italian Senate today for a debate which will decide whether his one-party minority government will survive.

The debate is the prelude to a vote of confidence which he is expected to win.

Zoli formed an all Christian Democrat government on May 19. The Senate debate marks his first parliamentary test. If he survives the vote, expected early next week, he will go before the Chamber of Deputies. Otherwise, he will turn over his mandate to President Giovanni Gronchi and the search for a new premier will begin.

British Trade May Hurt Ike's Program

(Another story on Page 8)

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) warned today that Britain's decision to boost its trade with Red China may "possibly" hamper congressional passage of President Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

Potter, a member of the Commerce Committee, called the British move "regrettable."

Many congressmen left Washington over Memorial Day and were not available for comment. But the move was almost certain to stir up an angry row.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) has vigorously opposed any relaxation of trade barriers with Red China, contending it would increase her war-making powers.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said, how-issue with the Communists be-issue with the Communistsi s being taken seriously, why not the trade issue." He said Britain "has been pushed very hard financially" and the move was expected.

And Sen. George M. Smathers (D-Fla.), another member of the committee, is reported to be ready to urge that the United States itself begin trading with Communist China. The United States now has an embargo on all Red China trade.

Other congressional news:

Natural Gas: United Auto Workers President Walter A. Reuther said that enactment of an administration-supported natural gas bill would cost consumers almost one billion dollars a year. He made the remark in a statement prepared for the House Commerce Committee which is holding hearings on the subject. Reuther said the bill would result in a windfall of more than 30 billion dollars to the oil industry.

The tax writeoffs: A Senate judiciary subcommittee resumed hearings on the government's policy of granting rapid tax writeoffs to certain industries. The subcommittee summoned as its first witness Jerome K. Kuykendall, chairman of the Federal Power Commission.

Lunch: A number of GOP congressmen complained about President Eisenhower's forthcoming lunch on Capitol Hill Monday with House Republican members. The meeting was set up to give congressmen a chance to visit with the President and in hopes it would improve congressional-White House relations. But some lawmakers said that with the entire House GOP membership invited they won't have much of a chance to give the President their personal views. Some conservative Republicans talked of staying away altogether.

Bachman, 39, was driving home from his brother's farm near Conestoga, Pa., with a supply of seed corn which he was to plant today. Firfemen were unable to save the five-room home of John G. A Milestone in The 'Age of Steel'

STEEL, the industry with whose fortunes the economic well-being of the Monongahela Valley is so closely involved, this year is observing the 100th anniversary of its origin in the United States.

According to the American Iron & Steel Institute, what it calls the "Age of Steel" in the U. S. was ushered in by William Kelly, a Kentucky iron-maker, when he patented a pneumatic converter process of steel manufacture.

Kelly's work was mainly an enlargement of the experiments of two Englishmen, Robert Forester Mushet and Henry Bessemer. As early as 1856 Mushet discovered that manganese, when combined with the blown metal from a converter developed by Bessemer, produced steel. And no steel is made commercially today without the use of manganese.

It is literally true that we live in an "Age of Steel". In both war and peace, steel has been the basic metal, and that promises to be the case for the indefinite future despite the fact that some alternatives and substitutes have come along and inserted themselves in the patterns of our great manufacturing systen. But the military and economic strength of any nation still must be measured by its capacity to produce steel.

Something else has happened in this "peoples capitalism" that we boast about so justifiably. For the owners of our steel companies, that is their stockholders, now outnumber their employes. At the end of 1956 the owners of steel company stocks numbered about 885,000 whereas the average number of employes in these companies for the same year was about 824,000. The social and economic implications of this statistic are indeed interesting to think about.

* * *

THE FUTURE of the steel industry seems bright as it enters its second century. It seems in general to possess the financial strength and the technical competence to go on meeting its challenges and realizing its opportunities.

The industry's greatest problem at this milestone, as we see it, concerns its human relationships, mainly those between companies and their employes and between companies and their communities.

Steel's future is darkened by the existence of an industry-wide collective bargaining system which is unweildy, unrealistic and, to a considerable degree, undemocratic. Yet we see few signs that either management or union leaders, even though they may recognize the faults of the system, are thinking constructively about how it can be improved.

In their community relationships also, many of the steel companies have much to learn about the proper role of the corporation in a "peoples capitalism". Such phrases as "steel town" and "mill town" still carry some unpleasant connotations about which the leadership of the industry as a whole and of the individual companies should be concerned.

* * *

THOSE OF US who are destined to live our lives in the shadows of blast furnaces and coke ovens must never lose sight of the importance to the nation and to humanity generally of the work that goes on in communities like the Monongahela Valley. The very essentiality of this work imparts a commanding [illegible] to the community and gives its people [illegible] for pride.

At the same time, we who work in steel mills and [illegible] them must avoid the error of [illegible] progress exclusively in terms of [illegible] wage rates, carloadings and tonnage. [illegible] important though these are in gauging material accomplishment, they are not the [illegible] ingredients of satisfying community [illegible] we devoutly hope that the second [illegible] of the 'Age of Steel' will see the masters of steel mastering the problems of human relationships as they have so expertly [illegible] the technical and financial challenges [illegible] first hundred years.

A Deserving Cause

THE SALVATION Army is currently conducting a drive in the Valley for $25,000 with which to complete payments for its new citadel on Sc[illegible] Ave. in Monessen.

The services which the "Army" gives are only partly in the field of religion. For they include attention to the needs of human beings [illegible] in desperate want, as well as [illegible] and little human [illegible]

The people of [illegible] area have always responded well to calls for the support of the work of the Salvation Army, and we believe they will [illegible] affirmatively once again to this appeal.

From Washington—

GOP Future Involved in Budget Row

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

At this point President Eisenhower is nowhere near winning his battle with Congress over his budget and over his legislative program.

He has slowed the stampede against him, but the hardest part of the battle is still ahead — the battle to translate growing public support into needed congressional support.

Mr. Drummond

This is no longer a contest over the merits of the President's appropriation requests; it is a contest over the leadership and direction of the Republican party. If we are to understand what's happening, it is necessary, I think, to realize:

That Mr. Eisenhower's real battle is not with the Democrats but with members of his own party.

That the Democrats politically have no need and no incentive to support the President when a majority of Republicans are leading the fight against him.

That the stakes in this revolt against Mr. Eisenhower's leadership are nothing less than the fate and future of the Republican party and that they will be paid off, not in headlines, but in votes — or lack of them — when the country comes to elect Congress next fall and a President in 1960.

Adams Speaks Bluntly

This is certainly Mr. Eisenhower's deep conviction and the usually silent presidential assistant, Sherman Adams, who is not given to "shoveling smoke," put it bluntly to the last of a series of Republican regional conferences in Trenton, N. J., last week.

"To me it is inconceivable," he said "That loyal Republicanism can be twisted to mean persistent and carping opposition to our party's leader and our party platform. If that should be our course — inconceivable though it is — then, earnestly I say this to you our party will be foredoomed at the polls."

President Eisenhower is not going to walk out on the Republican party. He is wondering whether the Republican party is going to walk out on him. Obviously he can't be an effective advocate of the election of a Republican Congress in 1958 and of a Republican President in 1960 if the party does not stand for the things the country elected Mr. Eisenhower to carry out.

There are those who sincerely believe that it is the President, and not his Republican opponents, who have departed from the 1956 Republican platform. It is hard to see how any objective look at the facts bears out this view since the Republican platform:

Stipulates that further reductions in government spending must not be at the expense of "weakening" the defense program or "depreciating services of government to our people."

Advocates tax reduction only when it becomes "consistent with a balanced budget" and "a gradual reduction of the national debt."

Calls for "expansion of Social Security . . . broadened coverage of unemployment insurance. . . . improved housing. . . . and better health protection for all our people."

Pledges to "renew efforts to enact a program of federal assistance" for public school construction.

Supports the strengthening of civil rights legislation.

Voted for Platform

This Republican platform was unanimously adopted — without even a half-vote in dissent — at San Francisco and 5 of the 46 Republican senators now in Washington were delegates to that unanimous convention. Their names are:

Allott, Colo.; Beall, Md.; Bridges, N. H.; Bush, Conn.; Capehart, Ind.; Case, N. J.; Case, S. D.; Dirksen, Ill.; Hickenlooper, Iowa; Ives and Javits, N. Y.; Jenner, Ind.; Knowland and Kuchel, Calif.; Martin, Pa.; Martin, Iowa; Morton, Ky.; Mundt, S. D.; Purtell, Conn.; Revercomb, W. Va.; Saltonstall, Mass.; Smith, N. J.; Thye, Minn.; Watkins, Utah, and Williams, Del.

Under the solemn title of "Declaration of Dedication," this platform was dedicated "in glowing appreciation of his dynamic leadership and inspiration" to "President Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Today if Mr. Eisenhower had the sustained support of those same Republican senators now in office, who brought this platform into being — in addition to other Republicans who back his program, he wouldn't have to worry about where his next vote is coming from.

It's a Fact—

Tax Cheater Finally Caught

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The wheels of justice sometimes grind slow.

Joe Nunan, who used to collect taxes from all of us, walked into federal prison last week and began serving a five-year term for failing to collect taxes from himself.

Mr. Pearson

The date was May 23, 1957

It was 1945, about 12 years before, that I first suspected Joe Nunan was not on the up-and-up as Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Out in Madison, the state of Wisconsin had looked into Sen. Joe McCarthy's taxes, found that he had failed to report his full income and made him ante up.

Since the state of Wisconsin files such matters as a public record so newspapermen can examine them, I went to see Commissioner Nunan to ask what he was going to do about the Senator's federal taxes. He replied.

"Oh, with a United States Senator I don't think we would bother."

I asked Commissioner Nunan if that wasn't setting one tax standard for one group of citizens another standard for others. The question didn't seem to worry him.

Favored Himself

Later, as I watched Nunan's work, I became convinced he not only set a different standard of tax collection for such important people as Senators, but also for himself. I discovered, and published on March 27, 1952 the story of Nunan's association with mobster Frankie Costello; on March 28, his failure to pay taxes on a legal fee of $25,000; on April 19 of other revenue on which he failed to pay taxes; on April 26, how he deposited $100,000 on which he failed to pay any taxes at all.

Two years later Nunan was convicted of tax evasion. Last week, three years later after appealing to the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court without success, the prison doors finally clanged shut on the man who set one standard of tax collection for big shots, another standard for the general public.

NOTE — Nunan was clerk to Judge Martin Manton, one of the few U. S. Court of Appeals judges ever convicted of bribery. Nunan was appointed in 1944 by Roosevelt, resigned in 1947 under Truman.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, which decides who shall operate which prize air routes, has been conducting an investigation of "leaks." It should. Priceless tips on new air routes have been leaking to the stock market.

Simultaneously, the CAB has been suppressing certain secret documents some of which the public has a right to read. One such document has just come into my hands, and I intend to publish parts of it.

It pertains to alleged wire-pulling with the Mexican government by Pan American Airways to keep other American airlines out of Mexico.

This document is stamped "Confidential," and the CAB issued a special secrecy order, No. E-11109, March 11, 1957 stating that this document "shall be segregated from the public record and withheld from public disclosure."

One reason for secrecy is that Pan American Airways pressured the CAB for secrecy, and Pan Am employs people with influence in Washington. It has hired, among others, the nephew of the President, Milton Eisenhower, Jr., the former CAB official Carroll Cone, Ike's former Undersecretary of Commerce Bob Murray; Ike's former Undersecretary of the Air Force, Roger Lewis; former CAB Commissioner Russell Adams; and former CAB Commissioner Clarence Young.

The reason for Pan Am's desire for secrecy is that it denies having used any influence with the Mexican government to keep Braniff Airways, Eastern Air Lines, or any other competitors out of Mexico. Pan Am owns 42 per cent of Compania Mexicana de Aviacion (CMA) and 20 per cent of Aeronaves de Mexico, which, through Mexican directors, have influence with the Mexican government.

Pryor Denies

Charming Pan American Vice President Sam Pryor, however, denies this. He has looked me straight in the eye many times and sworn to high heaven that Pan American has never used one little iota of influence through its Mexican subsidiaries to stop other American airlines from coming into Mexico.

"We're not holding them up," sayd Sam, his baby-blue eyes looking horrified at the thought. "All they have to do is make arrangements with the Mexican government."

However, here is what the secret document, which Pan Am doesn't want published, says about the way Pan Am influenced the Mexican government to bar other airlines.

The document is a formal, though still confidential report written by George A. Brownell, who went to Mexico as "personal representative of the President" to investigate this in 1948.

"By all the tests which are usual in this country," wrote Brownell, "there would seem to be no question but that Pan American controls CMA."

He then went into great detail to show how CMA's influence with the Mexican government was the chief roadblock against a bilateral treaty with the United States.

"I personally have no doubt that if Pan American wished to do so, it would be able to reverse the position which CMA has taken" wrote Brownell in his "confidential report." "I also believe that if CMA's position were reversed, and if it supported the proposed bilateral, the agreement would be executed in short order.

"One must be very naive," concluded Brownell "and also disregard all principles established by the SEC, ICC, and many courts, to assume that Pan American does not control CMA in all important respects.

"If, as I believe, CMA's opposition is the chief obstacle to the proposed bilateral agreement, one has to be still more naive to exempt and excuse Pan American from responsibility in the premises."

Yet the charming Sam Pryor looks at you with his baby-blue eyes and says that Pan Am had nothing to do with the case at all — absolutely nothing!

No wonder Pan Am went on record so vigorously with the CAB to keep this document secret.

The Monessen district spent a quiet, chilly Memorial Day yesterday with veterans conducting brief services at cemeteries. Several hundred persons witnessed the traditional service at Grandview Cemetery in Monessen yesterday, with commander Jack Snyder of the American Legion post paying tribute to the memory of fallen men in both World Wars.

At least 177 persons have been killed in eight airplane crashes throughout the world since Thursday night to mark the blackest period in the history of peacetime aviation. The three worst crashes — near Havre deGrace, Md., New York and Tokyo — involved American planes and 133 persons, nearly all Americans, were killed.

The width of United States ships is determined by the Panama Canal, and the height by the Brooklyn bridge.

Disarmament Poses Big Decision for U. S.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

While Mr. Stassen was back in Washington, he was given fresh instructions. They marked a recognition on the part of the President that for the first time in the long history of talking about disarmament, we are in sight of a negotiation. What Mr. Stassen has found in his recent meetings with the Russians is that they are acting as men would act who wished to strike a bargain and not merely to publish statements.

Mr. Lippmann

This is something very new, and it has forced us to face questions that we have not had to face before. By long habit we had come to take it for granted that neither side really believed that an agreement was possible, and that, therefore, we were all free to make proposals without asking ourselves seriously what we would think if the Russians accepted them. Now, with Mr. Stassen reporting that he is on the verge of a negotiation, we find ourselves in a game where the chips mean real money, and the stakes are high.

The great question, on which the President has had to decide the answer, is whether to start down the road of negotiation. This is a question at the highest level of policy. It is a much bigger question that the one which Admiral Radford raised when he said publicly that he did not want to make an agreement because he did not trust the Russians to carry it out.

Risks Involved

The real question is whether it is wise to make an agreement that would be carried out because it was "self-enforcing." There is not much doubt that we can insist on safeguards against the secret violation of an agreement. The seriously debatable question is whether in the kind of limited agreement which may be possible the political risks of a relaxation of the tension are greater then the political and economic advantages.

What is there to be said against making an agreement which contains the necessary technical safeguards? In the last analysis, the argument is that if you agree to limit armaments before you have done anything to settle the great issues, you have in effect accepted the present division of the world. Any agreement about armaments, which fixes their size or stipulates how or when they may be used, is tantamount to a military guarantee of the existing military boundaries between the two coalitions.

This will, so runs the argument, reduce, perhaps remove, the pressure upon the Soviet Union to permit the reunification of the two Germanys. It will throttle down the pressure in Eastern Europe for the withdrawal of the Red Army. It will, at the same time, reduce the pressure of anxiety in Western Europe, including Western Germany, and so make these countries less disposed to carry the burden of the NATO military establishment. It will stimulate the Ameridian demand to cut the budget at the expense of the military services and of foreign aid.

As against all these risks, the President had decided that the risks and the costs of not negotiating may be still greater. I do not see how he could have decided differently. For how, if he is faced with a serious offer to negotiate, can the President of the United States refuse to negotiate? Can he say that we do not want an agreement when he and the two Presidents before him have so often declared that we do want one? Too much has been said by too many responsible men, and it is now impossible for the President to take a stand against an agreement on armaments.

Must Seek Accord

The President can argue about the substance of any particular agreement. But he must argue sincerely, that is to say, with the hope of reaching an agreement and not with a concealed intention of preventing an agreement.

If we look at the case against an agreement, is it not fair to ask whether he does not rest on a strange and dangerous assumption — that if tensions are relaxed, if the fear of war is reduced, the advantages will go to the Communist powers and the disadvantages to the non-Communist. Is this our true measure of the world? Must we really believe that with less fear and anxiety and tension we shall languish while the totalitarian states will flourish?

Surely this assumption, which turns our moral conviction upside down, is itself a morbid symptom of the existing tensions, manifesting itself in a profound lack of confidence in our own institutions and in our own people.

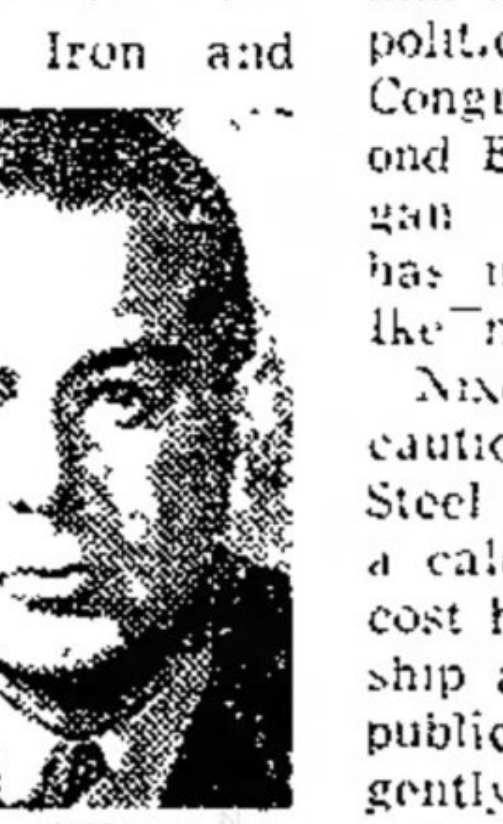
Nixon Seeks Role as 'Eisenhower's Boy'

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The columnists and pandits seem to have missed the most important angle of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's speech last week in New York before the American Iron and Steel Institute.



Mr. Wilson

The important angle was political. It was this. Nixon deliberately tied himself in that speech to the Eisenhower administration. Tied himself and soaked the knot in water so that it will not become untied.

Repeatedly, half a hundred times, in that speech Nixon used the word "we" in stating his views on the Eisenhower budget. It was the most important public appearance of the vice president since the 1956 presidential campaign.

First Vital Move

The speech was the vital first "move" which Nixon's friends have been expecting and urging him to make toward gaining the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. In other language, the speech reads like a frank and bold bid for President Eisenhower's active support in 1960.

Nixon hurried off to Africa after last year's campaign. He made a few after-campaign speeches, but had seemed to be avoiding major political commitments as the new Congress assembled and the second Eisenhower administration began. After long thoughts Nixon has made his stand as an all-out Ike man.

Nixon is moving with the utmost caution toward 1960. His Iron and Steel Institute speech represented a calculated risk. It probably has cost him some warmth and friendship among the large body of Republican conservatives who urgently desire to reduce Eisenhower's spending program.

What He Wants

The speech may win Nixon some warmth and friendship elsewhere, at the White House, for example. It was by chance but still interesting that on the Sunday following Nixon's speech, the New York Times, W. H. Lawrence reported on page one that Eisenhower was determined to fight in 1960 for the nomination of a modern Republican.

The term is not yet sufficiently defined but, roughly, a modern Republican is an Eisenhower Republican. Nixon, then, is Eisenhower's boy—provided the President wants him three years hence.

MHS Boys Toured Through Penn State

Monessen High's doubles team of Joe Kurey and Jim Baker had quite a time at Penn State last weekend during the PIAA tennis championships. They received a guided tour of the campus by All-American footballer Sam Valentine, a brother of the MHS tennis coach Antoinette Valentine . . . Incidentally both Kurey and Baker are honor students in the junior class . . . Here's an interesting quote from Donora's Stan Musial: "The day baseball becomes a struggle instead of a pleasure, I'll quit. The way I feel, this isn't my last year. I still love it." . . . Brownsville High's baseballers could do nothing wrong when they eliminated Charleroi from the WPIAL baseball tournament recently by a 7-0 score. However they could do nothing right the other day, bowing to Wilkinsburg, 7-3, mostly because of 11 — that's right 11 — errors!

Julius D'Alfonso's Monessen High marching band will be kept busy this summer. The Volunteer Fire Department has requested that the band make five appearances during June, July and August . . . Monongahela's splendid junior soccer team, comprised mostly of WPIAL championship squads, will go to Philadelphia on June 9 to meet the Lighthouse United team in the eastern finals of the National Junior Cup competition. Lighthouse has already defeated Baltimore and Providence . . . Incidentally the Monongahela coach is Frank (Buzz) Lignelli, who tutored the Wildcat footballers for a season before Al Cree arrived on the scene.

Monessen Approves Big Six Set-up

The Monessen School Board has officially approved the Big Six constitution . . .By the way, valley principals plan to invite sportswriters to their June meeting, at which time all details of the new organization will be explained. Until now, the Big Six has operated without a constitution. The principals now plan to set up a controlling body to strengthen the organization . . . And just in case you're interested, Redstone High has NOT been invited to the June meeting. Presumably the Hawks are not included in present plans . . . Scoop Altemare, the city's foremost ski enthusiast, is busy preparing his new photographic studio right next to the Daily Independent.

We know a fellow who claims Charleroi's much-wanted footballer Myron Pottios is not really signed, sealed and delivered in behalf of Notre Dame. There are indications that Myron might still wind up at Penn State, where an older brother studied. The Cougar star was on the State campus last weekend for the PIAA track meet and he was cornered by several of the Nittany Lion footballers who were pointing out the benefits at University Park . . . Monessen High has "formally" entered the first Holiday basketball tournament to be sponsored by the Monessen Movie Club on Dec. 27-28 at the MHS gym. The School Board has approved the event which will also include Turtle Creek, Clairton and Altoona.

Busy Time at Stadium on July 3

Memorial Stadium will be a busy place on the night of July 3, if the Monessen Lions have their way. They plan the biggest fireworks display in valley history about 10 p. m. The fun will start more than two hours earlier, though, with a giant stage show which will feature a 15 piece orchestra. As much local talent as possible will be worked into the show. Two well-known sports figures, Boots Salotti and Bob Manderino, will provide the clowning. Preparations have been made for a crowd of 11,000 . . . Lou Kichinko, our baseball man, has watched five games at Forbes Field this season and all five have gone into extra innings.

Hogan Sharpens Game As Open Play Nears

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (UP)— They're all watching "The Hawk" again today as the fairway fraternity moves closer to the U.S. Open tournament.

Ben Hogan, his pride punctured by two recent poor showings on the tournament trail, grimly is getting ready for a desperate attempt to win a record fifth Open. And you can take it from two former champions — Ed Furgol and Cary Middlecoff—he's going to be the man to beat.

"It all depends," says Middlecoff, "on whether he straightens out his putting and recaptures about 75 per cent of that old concentration."

They figure he'll do just that. Because it's noticeable, as they play in the Palm Beach Round Robin, that the Hogan chin is jutting out as of old. The lips are tight and the eyes are narrow as Bantam Ben pulls himself together in an attempt to rub out the hurt of failing to qualify for the two final rounds of the Masters and his poor showing at Colonial.

"At any rate, I don't believe there are more than 10 or 12 players who have a chance to win the Open at Inverness, June 13-15, because of the tight fairways and the small greens," analyzes Furgol. "Out of this group I put Hogan at the top with wonderful chances for such as Jimmy Demaret, Dow Finsterwald, Sam Snead and Doug Ford."

Middlecoff, the defending champion, grinned that he wasn't surrendering without a struggle, "because I'm an eternal optimist." The golf-digging dentist had a "weak winter" because of a hemoglobin condition plus an attack of flu which he couldn't seem to shake.

"But I'm feeling stronger now and how I do in the Palm Beach will tell me a lot personally," he said.

"Still I don't overlook that Hogan," Cary added. "I played some practice rounds with him at Fort Worth and from tee to green he should have won it. I don't believe anybody can hit as many fairways as he can and, without lowrating Inverness, it's going to be a driving and putting contest."

Furgol nodded agreement and summed it up:

"Right now Ben is practicing like the old Hogan fighting back at those golf courses which hurt his pride."

All of which adds up to the fact that the Hawk is hovering high over the hen house once again.

B. V. Prep Opener Saturday

Belle Vernon's Prep League baseball team will open its 1957 Mon Yough League season tomorrow at Jacob's Creek.

Manager Harold Ringstad's boys will make their home debut next Tuesday against Charleroi at the Fayette City diamond.

According to Ringstad, his Belle Vernon club will look pretty much like the recent Bellmar High team.

"We plan to start Larry Petras on the mound in our opener," he revealed.

The Belle Vernon infield will probably show Steve Raymond at first, Rudy Houseman at second, Don Miller at third, Bud Gardner at short and Tom O'Toole behind the plate.

In the outfield will be Larry Rankin in left field, Bucky Catrinio in centerfield and Ron Schmidt in right field.

Belle Vernon competed in Prep Baseball last season, and placed second. Ringstad is hoping for another good showing.

Pirates Split Twin Bill with Dodgers

PITTSBURGH (UP) — If the Pirates could do as well against other clubs as they do against the Brooklyn Dodgers things wouldn't be half bad for the local club.

The Pirates defeated the Dodgers, 2-1, in the second game of a doubleheader Thursday after the Dodgers had taken the opener, 4-3.

Righthander Bob Purkey was the winner in the nightcap, his third victory of the season, all of them against the Dodgers. No other pitcher has been able to defeat the National League champions that many times this season.

The Pirates have won only 11 games thus far and five of their victories were scored over Brooklyn.

Bucs Score

The Bucs scored their runs in the nightcap on a hit batter, an error and singles by Dick Rand, Bill Mazeroski and Frank Thomas in the fifth inning.

Purkey was only one out away from a shutout when Don Zimmer singled home Roy Campanella who had doubled.

In the first game Sal Maglie brought his lifetime record against the Pirates to 24-5 with the help of Duke Snider, who batted in three runs on a single and a two-run homer.

The Pirates almost pulled it out of the fire in the eighth. Maglie was riding along with a 4-1 lead and two outs when the Bucs scored twice on singles by Dee Fondy and Thomas and a double by Roberto Clemente. But Clem Labine came in for Maglie and put out the fire.

Thomas Homers

Thomas hit his fifth homer of the year in the fourth.

Tonight the Pirates play the New York Giants in the opener of a four-game series. Luis Arroyo (1-5) will start for the Bucs against Joe Margoneri (1-0).

Pirate manager Bobby Bragan fined Mazeroski $25 for failing to stop a ground ball single which gave the Dodgers a 1-0 victory in Wednesday's game. Mazeroski admitted he should have stopped the ball.

Villanova Bids With Manhattan

NEW YORK (UP) — Villanova and Manhattan begin battling today for the team title in the IC4A track and field championships and the tussle probably won't be decided until the final event is run off Saturday.

Fifty-one colleges entered the Downing Stadium meet but only coach Jumbo Elliott's Villanova Wildcats and coach George Eastment's Manhattan Jaspers have the talent necessary to capture team honors.

Charleroi Tops Fayette City, 3-1

Charleroi topped Fayette City, 3-1, on Wednesday to move into first place in the Mon Valley League baseball standings.

Lefty Fred Uhlman bested Frank Valla in a pitchers duel. Uhlman survived a shaky first inning to author a seven hit triumph.

FC collected three of its seven hits in the initial frame. Ermlich, Henry Studinecki and Jack Russell combined to produce the losers only run.

In the same frame, Charleroi tied it up on a walk, stolen base and error. Then in the third inning, Walt Cieply and George Zuraw clouted back-to-back doubles and Roy Barli contributed a single to provide the deciding runs.

Italian Hall Keeps City Loop Lead

Italian Hall stayed atop the City Softball League standings Wednesday by exploding for 12 runs in the second inning to swamp PNA, 16-9.

The victory was the fourt in five starts for Manager Steve Hardoby's boys.

Tonight's City League attraction will send the Ravens against the Myfords at City Park.

PNA started Wednesday's game in fine fashion, shoving over four runs in the first inning. However Italian Hall went wild in the second frame with 12 big runs.

Ray Johnson provided the big second inning blow, a triple.

Dan Danser had three hits for the winners while Frank Anders stroked two safeties for PNA.

Ozarks Take on Charleroi Here

Mon Valley League Contest Is Rescheduled for Ninth Street

Monessen's Ozarks, idle since last Monday, will swing back into Mon Valley League action tonight against arch-rival Charleroi at Ninth Street Park.

Originally the game was scheduled for Charleroi. However it was moved to Monessen by mutual consent to avoid conflict with a band concert at the Charleroi Stadium.

The Ozarks appreciate the switch. They are much tougher in the friendly confines of Ninth Street.

At the moment, the two teams have contrasting streaks. The Ozarks have lost five of their last six games while Charleroi has won five of its last six.

The visitors are currently tied with Fayette City for the league lead. Both teams have a 7-3 record.

Other Games

Three other MVL games are scheduled tonight. Van Voorhis will go to West Newton, Donora will appear at New Eagle and Fayette City will travel to Perryopolis.

The current race is so close at the moment that all of those games loom as most important.

Only West Newton, winless after eight tries, appears in the hopeless class. All other entries are definite playoff possibilities.

Valley League standings follow.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Take Time, but . . .

A lot of putts are missed because the player stood too long over the ball before making his stroke — this can cause tensing or cramping of the muscles. And you can't putt accurately with tensed or cramped muscles.

To a large extent, the amount of time a player should spend aiming and adjusting for a particular putt depends on the temperament of the player himself. There are some who putt quickly and well; there are others who take quite a lot of time and also putt well.

My advice is that while you are practicing your putting stroke on the practice green, study the amount of time you should take with your putts. Try a few over the ball, using a minimum of time. Then try a few taking dead and careful aim and being sure your stance is just as you want it. Then compromise by taking a medium amount of time. The chances are good that some one procedure will suit you.

Hanks Wins Race In Record Time

By LEO H. PETERSEN

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Smiling Sam Hanks, who almost gave up last year when he finished second, "thanked God and his prayers" today for giving the Indianapolis Memorial Day 500-mile automobile race "a final try."

For on that final try, he won the race and announced definitely it would be his last.

"I came awfully close to calling it quits last year when I finished second," Hanks, a 6-foot, 160-pounder, said. "I figured that if I couldn't do it in 11 tries, why try again. Then I decided to try it once more and win or lose this was going to be it. And now that I've won, this is it. I've had it."

That "it" came in his 12th try for this biggest prize in America's automobile racing history. When he lost out last year by 20.47 seconds to Pat Flaherty he thought that "is as close as I'll ever come." But he gave it that one more try and this time he won out by 17.35 seconds.

Second Closest Finish

It was the second closest finish in the history of the 41-year-old race. That 20.47 seconds he had finished behind Flaherty last year had been the second closest. The closest was the :02.16 seconds by which Wilbur Shaw beat Ralph Hepburn back in 1937.

Not only did the crew-cut 42-year-old Hanks set a new speed record by winning the race which is only one year younger than he is but he also was sure to surpass the record money winning total of $93.819 which Flaherty picked up last year.

By winning the race, he picked up the first place jackpot of $20,000. And by leading in most of the 200 laps he picked up another $21,150 at $150 a lap. That made his total $41,150 and when endorsements and all the other financial rewards which go to the winner come in, he should be well over the $100,000 mark.

As for speed, Hanks raced the 2½ mile brick oval track, with a holiday crowd of about 325,000 looking on, in the record speed of 135.601 miles an hour. The old record was 130.840 set by the late Bill Vukovich in 1954. As a matter of fact, all of the first 10 finishers in Thursday's race passed that speed.

Jim Rathmann of Miami, Fla., was second; Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix, Ariz., third; Paul Russo of Gardena, Calif., fourth; Jimmy Reece of Indianapolis, fifth; Johnnie Boyd of Fresno, Calif., sixth; Marshall Teague of Daytona Beach, Fla., seventh; Pat O'Connor, eighth.

Accidents At Minimum

Only 17 of the 33 sleek racing cars in the race finished, but there were only four accidents. That was a record for this grueling grind, too.

The two former champions in the field, Troy Ruttman of Lynnwood, Calif., and Johnnie Parsons of Van Nuys, Calif., never figured.

Ruttman, the 1952 winner, was forced to drop out early when his car broke a piston rod. Parsons, who got in on a pass when Dick Rathmann of Indianapolis was unable to drive because of an eye injury, finished far down in the field.

Hanks never was out of contention. O'Connor, in the No. 1 pole position, led for the first lap and then Ruttman took over. It was not until the 36th lap, at 2½ miles to the lap, that Hanks took over. From that time on, he led most of the rest of the way.

Hanks' sleek, bright yellow Belond Exhaust Special was the lightest car in the race. He made three pit stops.

Plan 'Work Day' At Belle Vernon Midget Diamond

Sunday will be "work day" at the Belle Vernon Midget League diamond.

Harold Ringstad, who directs the community's midget league baseball program for the sponsoring Lions Club, reports that the field needs a "dressing-up."

"So we're inviting all of the parents to join us Sunday morning at 10 a. m. to work on the field," said Ringstad. "We ask them to bring along their rakes and other tools."

"If everybody pitches in, it won't take long to put the field in playing shape.

The midget baseball program in Belle Vernon will begin on June 10.

More Fans for Horse Racing

Commission Serious About Fish Cutbacks

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission has taken steps to curtail its services in order to stay within the revenue provided by the present $2.50 fee.

The Commission had asked the legislature to hike licenses, but so far the group has failed to act. According to fish officials, that failure will necessitate some real cutbacks.

Here's how the Fish Commission plans to "economize":

1. Curtailment of fish propagation and stocking by closing down hatcheries, with a commensurate decrease of hatchery personnel.

2. Returning to the three mile minimum formerly set for streams to be stocked with state reared fish with a commensurate reduction in the numbers of fish required, and to limit stocking to streams and lakes most suitable for the various species.

Close Paradise

3. Closing the Fisherman's Paradise on Spring creek near Bellefonte.

4 Shortening seasons and reducing creel limits, including the elimination of ice fishing for bass and walleye in order to conserve the available supply of more desirable game fishes until such times as the Commission may be sufficiently financed to warrant the resumption of its program to provide greater fishing opportunity.

5. Further reduction of personnel in other than the propagation and distribution activities.

6. Reducing the purchase of access areas and sections of streams.

Pymatuning Museum—

First-time visitors to the Pymatuning Waterfowl Sanctuary, the Museum and the whole colorful marsh and lake country located in Crawford County, are usually incredulous at what they "discover" — it's so different from elsewhere in Pennsylvania. There, in the northwessern part of the State, are scenic beauties and waterfowl and fish enough on view to challenge the imagination.

A "must" in the area is the Game Commission's Pymatuning Museum, which is now open. It houses and attractively displays without charge a wide variety of mounted specimens of migratory waterfowl in seasonal plumage. This permits a rare opportunity to study ducks and geese as they appear at various times of the year. Other mounted specimens of birds that inhabit the locality also are on display there.

Each year many thousands of persons from other states and Canada as well as Pennsylvania, and sometimes from far-off countries, visit this fabulous area and the Museum. Teachers from the Commonwealth and neighboring Ohio often take pupils to Pymatuning to learn about wild waterfowl particularly and to benefit generally from a wonderful outdoor experience.

Highest mountains in the world after the Himalayas are the Andes.

Ship Seedlings—

This spring the Game Commission shipped 3,210,000 shrub and coniferous seedlings from its Howard Nursery. Twenty-three species, all important to game birds and animals, were represented in the shipments.

Approximately 50 per cent of the seedlings were planted on State Game Lands, Farm Game Projects, research projects, and properties leased by the Commission. The remainder were released to sportsmen's organizations, Soil Conservation Districts, Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs, and a few other organizations engaged in conservation programs.

In 1958 shipments of food producing shrubs will be materially increased over those of this year, the result of heavier seeding at the nursery in the fall of 1956.

Grouse Antics—

The antics of grouse during their "crazy flight" period in fall still mystify outdoorsmen. But wildlife men, who witness oddities in nature quite frequently, are also intrigued by the occasional grouse that becomes pugnacious in spring, a Jekyll-Hyde reversal of its normal, timid self.

State Game Protector Phil Sloan reports one of these incidents. He says:

"On April 26, as I accompanied a fellow officer, Mike Koromaus, on a patrol along a dirt road in Lackawanna County, a grouse flew across the road, then turned and followed the car. Mike stopped the car, and the bird flew into brush along the road. Soon it reappeared and followed the car, walking along the road edge for about 50 yards.

"Then I got out and pursued the grouse through the woods, throwing my cap at it to drive it away from the road and danger. Even then the bird showed little fright and flew only a short distance."

Johnson Picked To Win Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Heavyweight contender Harold Johnson is favored at 9-5 to beat light heavyweight aspirant Clarence Hinnant tonight at St. Nicholas Arena for his third victory on the comeback trail.

Their TV-radio (NBC) 10-rounder is slated for St. Nick's because evangelist Billy Graham occupies Madison Square Garden.

It will be the third start for Johnson, 28, since he returned to action in December, after a 19-months layoff following his "poisoned orange" knockout by Julio Mederos. The Philadelphian was suspended for the first six months of the action. A new manager is directing his comeback.

Chisox, Cincy Stay in First After Memorial Day Assignments

By UNITED PRESS

The Chicago White Sox roared past the major league pennant races' first milestone with the biggest Memorial Day lead in their modern history today, while the Cincinnati Redlegs held first place on this date for the first time since their 1939-40 pennant years.

The go-go White Sox opened up a three-game lead in the American League Thursday when Dick Donovan and Billy Pierce pitched and batted them to a 6-4 and 2-1 victories over the Cleveland Indians.

The Redlegs retained their game and a half margin in the National League when all three top contenders split double-headers. The Redlegs beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-3, after a 7-2 defeat; the Brooklyn Dodgers scored a 4-3 victory and then lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1, and the Milwaukee Braves lost to the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, after winning their opener, 5-2.

The New York Yankees routed the Washington Senators, 9-0, after a 5-1 defeat, the Boston Red Sox drubbed the Baltimore Orioles, 7-6 and 16-5, and the Detroit Tigers swept the Kansas City A's, 6-5 and 3-2, in the other A.L. games. The New York Giants rebounded from a 10-inning, 2-1 defeat to whip the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-1, in the other N.L. game.

Pierce Wins No. 8

Donovan scattered 11 hits and drove in three runs with three singles for the White Sox in the opener and then Pierce notched his eighth win of the season with a three-hitter. The little lefty, who has allowed only one earned run in his last 29 innings and leads the majors in victories, singled home the winning run in the fifth inning. Bud Daley and Mike Garcia were the losing pitchers for the Indians.

Bobby Shantz pitched a five-hitter for his fifth win for the Yankees after Camilo Pascual beat the world champions for the first time in his career with a six-hitter. Andy Carey sparked the Yankees' nine-hit attack in the nightcap while Jim Lemon homered for Washington in the first game.

Jackie Jensen walloped a 10th-inning homer to give the Red Sox their opening-game win and drove in three runs with a homer, double and single to lead Boston's 16-hit attack in the second game. Bob Porterfield won his first game as a result of Jensen's first-game homer and Dave Sisler weathered 12 Baltimore hits for his fourth triumph.

Pitcher Lou Sleater, batting for the first time this season, won his own game with a 10th-inning homer for Detroit and Frank Bolling hit two homers to help Paul Foytack post his fifth victory in the nightcap. Gus Zernial smashed his 10th homer for the A's.

Moon Extends Streak

Gus Bell's three-run seventh-inning homer was the big blow for the Redlegs in their nightcap after Willard Schmidt's four-hitter gave St. Louis an opening decision. Tom Acker, with relief aid from Hershell Freeman, won his sixth game behind a nine-hit Cincinnati attack that also included homers by George Crowe, Frank Robinson and Ed Bailey. St. Louis' Wally Moon hit safely in both games to run his streak to 23 straight games.

Duke Snider's two-run homer helped Sal Maglie win his second game of the year but the Pirates got a strong nine-hit pitching effort from Bob Purkey to win the nightcap. Purkey, who hasn't beaten any other team in the league, now has whipped the Dodgers three straight times this season.

Walt Moryn's two-run fifth-inning single enabled the Cubs to split their bargain bill after Ray Crone pitched a victorious eight-hitter. Don Elston, recently acquired from the Dodgers, won the nightcap for the Cubs. Bill Bruton and Del Rice homered for the Braves in the opener to help kayo Dick Drott.

Curt Barclay's four-hitter, a two-run homer by Willie Mays and three hits by Red Schoendienst gave the Giants an easy triumph after Curt Simmons won his 100th major league game. Simmons beat out an infield hit in the 10th to drive in the winning run.

PCL Meets on Damage Request

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The Pacific Coast League, doomed in the eyes of its own president if the Giants and Dodgers transfer to California, meets this Sunday to decide how much it should receive in damages as the result of such a shift.

PCL President Leslie O'Connor announced the session Thursday in a prepared statement in which he declared, "In my opinion, a taking of Los Angeles and San Francisco territory from the PCL inevitably will destroy the league."

Announcer Is Killed

WASHINGTON (UP)—A inquest was scheduled today into the death of a newlywed Voice of America announcer whose socialite ex-fiancee confessed shooting him six times Thursday in her swank aprtment.

Edith Louise Hough, 42, a free lance writer, said she shot Russian born-Zurab Abdusheli after he became "psychologically aggressive."

Police said Abdusheli, 44, went to Miss Hough's apartment to express condolences on the death last Sunday of her father, Dr. William Hite Hough, a prominent neurologist at Deland, Fla., and former president of the District of Columbia Medical Society.

Miss Hough, who said she met Abdusheli when she gave him English lessons, told police she did not want to "get involved" with him but agree to let him visit her.

She said she shot him after he became "somewhat aggressive." But it was a "psychological aggressiveness, not physical," she said.

Police found his bullet-punctured body sprawled across a couch. She said she fired six times and then shot him in the head after he started groaning "to put him out of his misery."

"I couldn't stand to see him suffering," she said.

Abdusheli had lived at the same apartment building as Miss Hough until his marriage less than three weeks ago to the former Irene Eristoff in Highland Falls, N.Y.

British Tie with Peiping

LONDON (UP)—Britain's rel ng of trade restrictions with China—over American protests will double British trade with ing within a year, econo experts predicted today.

But whether the shipping such goods as heavy machin and automobiles to the Comm nists will weaken Peiping's with the Soviet Union was mat of dispute. The American vi was that nothing good will com of it.

Although relaxing the embarg touched off a sharp Anglo-Ame can dispute there was no crisis i relations such as was caused by Britain and France's invasion of the Suez Canal Zone.

U.S. Standing Firm

The United States charged the move violated the world's "security interests" and said it would not relax its own embargo, imposed shortly after start of the Korean War. However Norway, Denmark and France were expected to follow Britain's lead.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the House of Commons Thursday that Britain is lopping 400 articles off the list of goods which exporters may not sell to Red China. This brings the list in line with articles sold Russia and its satellites but still bans the sale of strategic goods."

The British decision came about after a week's abortive negotiations in Paris by "Chincom," the committee for China trade, involving Britain, the United States, Japan and most of the NATO countries.

No Export Boom

British experts predicted trade with Red China would double but said this would be only a drop in the British financial bucket. Trade in non-strategic goods last year was only 10 million dollars, and trade sources said there had been no rush of exporters eager to try and crash the China market.

The main effort in Red China may come from companies anxious to build up connections against a possible easing of the iron Communist grip on the country—connections which would give British exporters a head start if regular trade starts.

Radio Moscow said the British action was a serious blow to the U.S. policy of "diktat" and called it important, the more so because of "stubborn U.S. opposition."

Soldier Climber Killed in Fall In New Mexico

SHIPROCK, N.M. (UP) — A team of veteran mountain climbers late Thursday removed the body of a 22-year-old Seattle, Wash., soldier killed in a 900-foot fall on historic Shiprock Mountain Wednesday night.

Authorities said the body of Bernard E. Topp had been removed from a ledge on the 1,700-foot sandstone pinnacle located on the Navajo Indian reservation.

A coroner's inquest held at the scene ruled the death accidental.

Topp and two other climbers, Elton H. Earle, another soldier, and Harry Davis, a scientist at White Sands Proving Grounds and president of the Southwest Mountain Climbers Assn., were descending a sheer cliff of the peak when a piton pulled loose and sent the young soldier hurtling through space.

Personal Evangelism

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham, who is conducting an evangelistic crusade in Madison Square Garden, said he got in a cab several nights ago and asked the driver to take him to the Garden. "What's on tonight?" the cabbie asked. "Billy Graham the evangelist is preaching there." Graham answered. "How does he compare with Billy Sunday," the cabbie asked. "No comparison," said Graham, "Sunday was much better."

SAFER THAN THE SEA—A group of Detroit youngsters decided it was safer to sail on dry land after they built a do-it-yourself sailboat. Joe Loch, 11, is the skipper of the craft and he's assisted by David Berry, 11, and Joe Polizzi, 12.

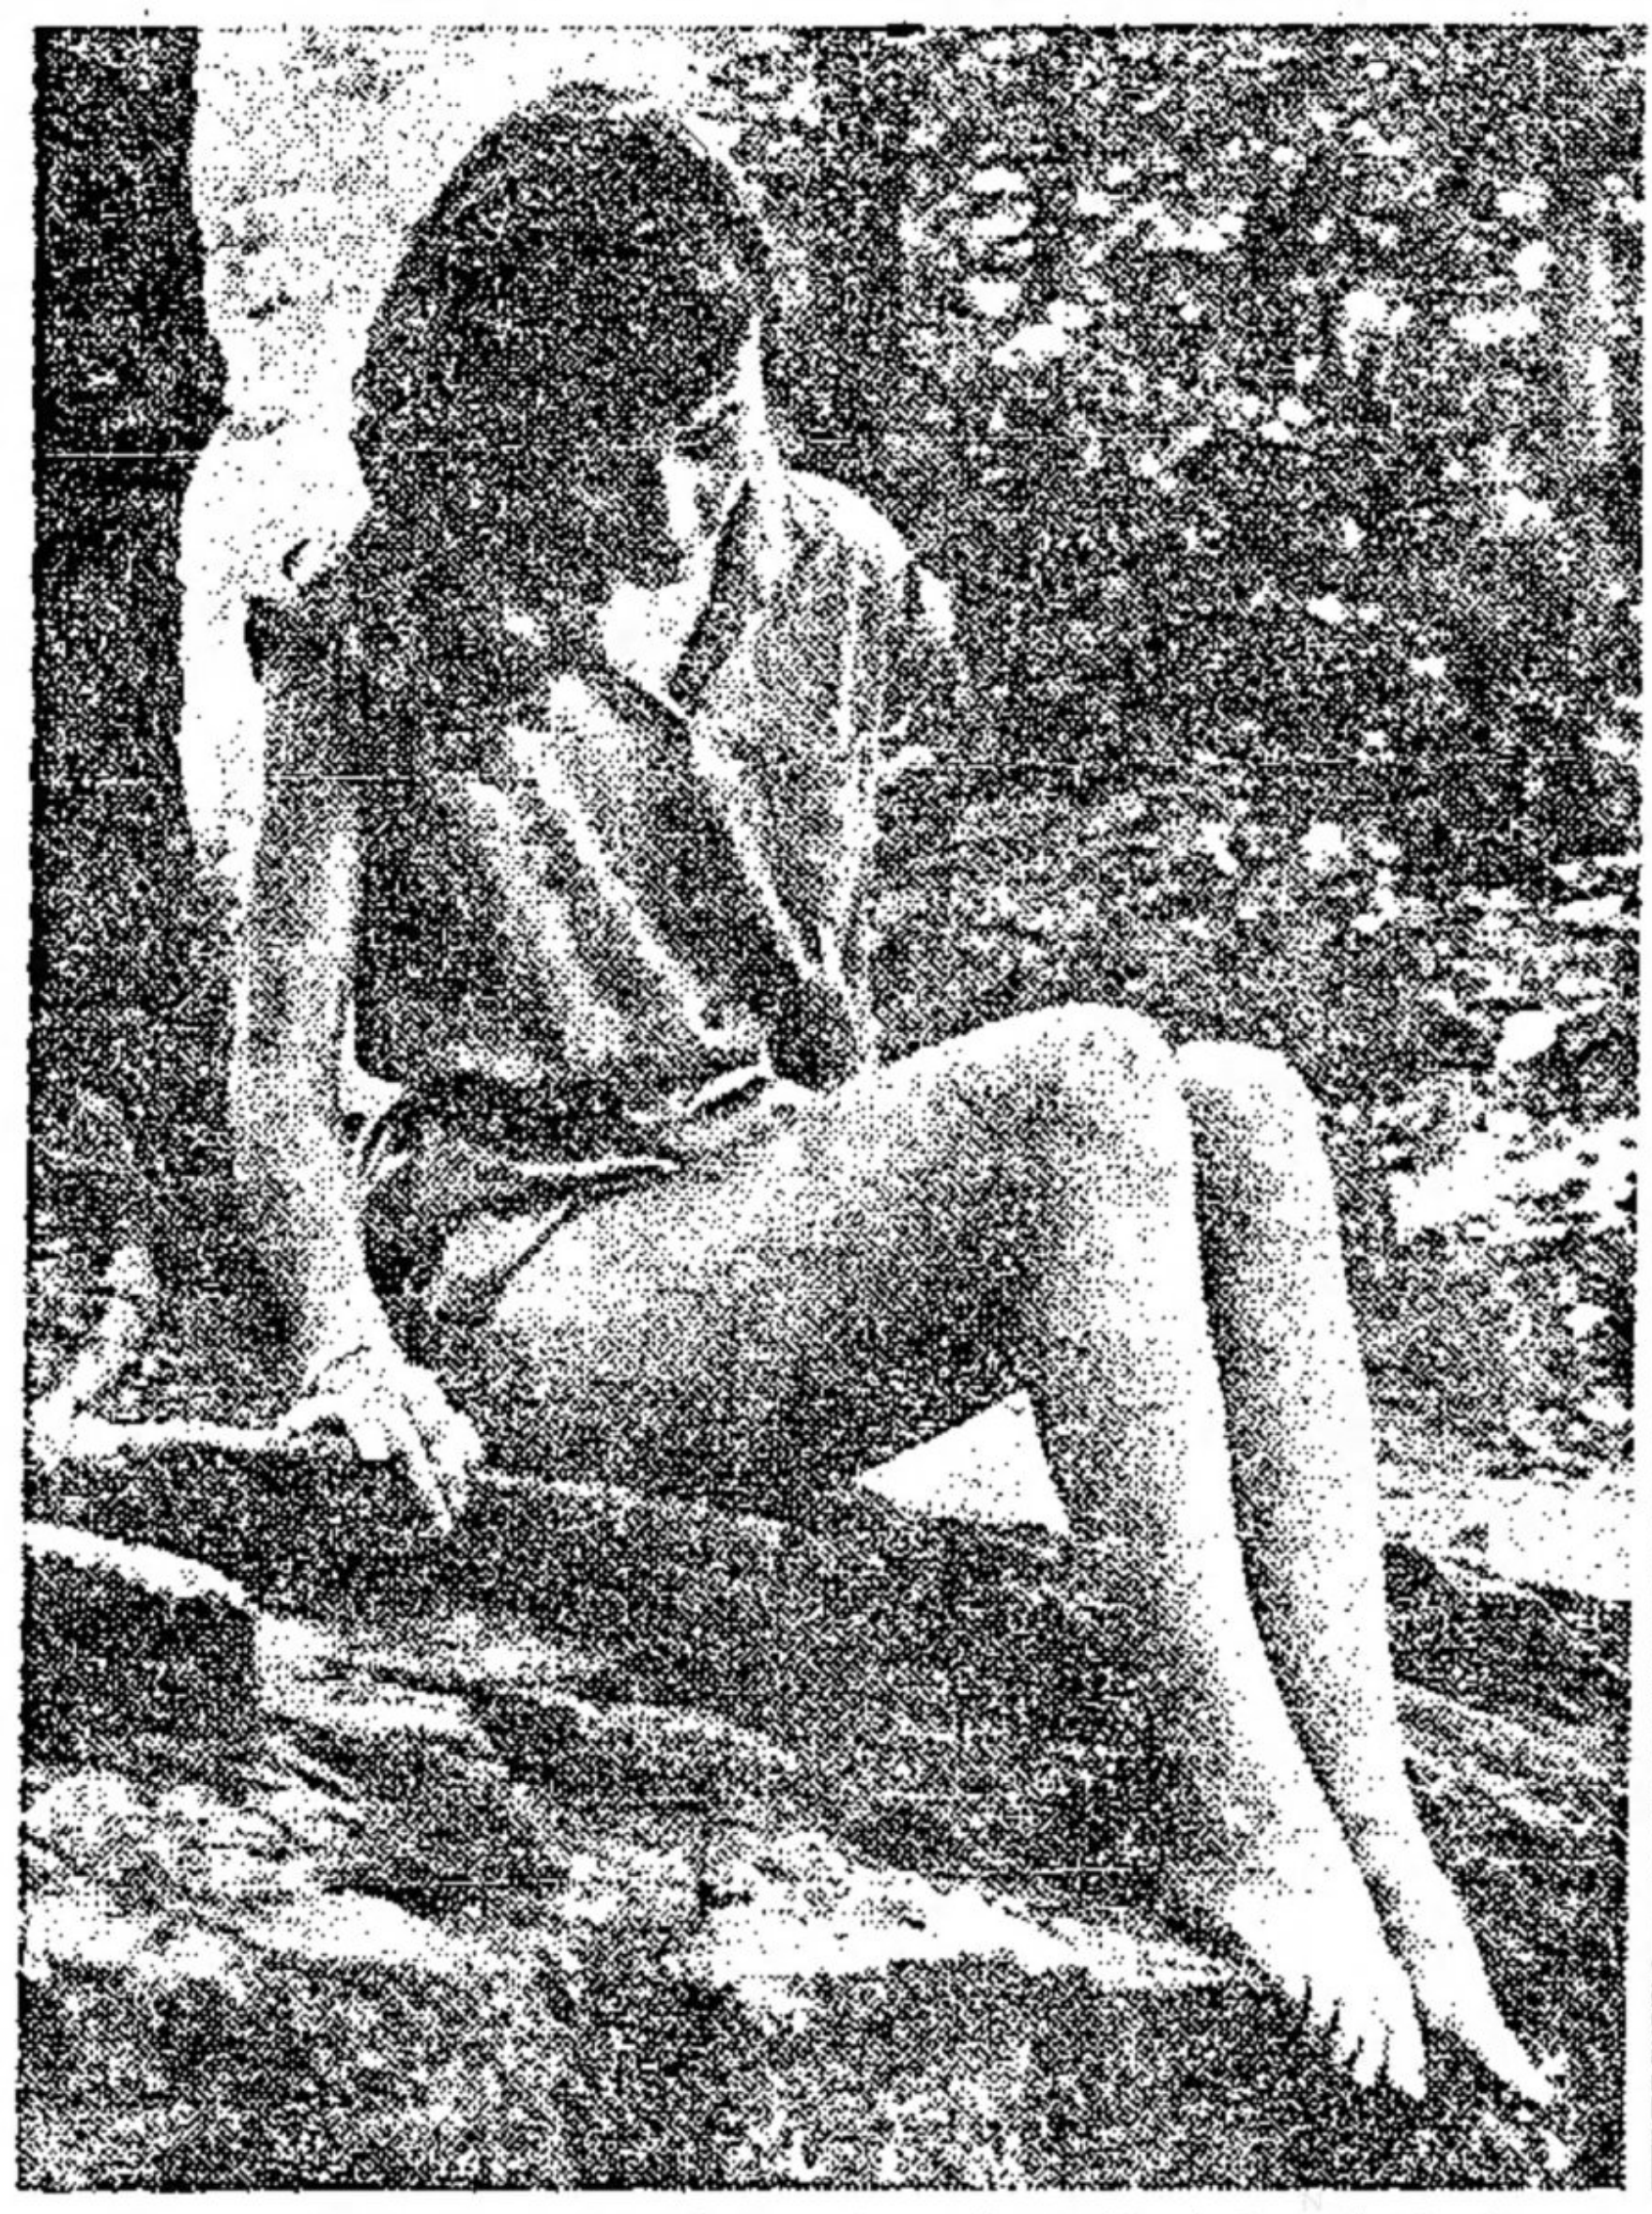
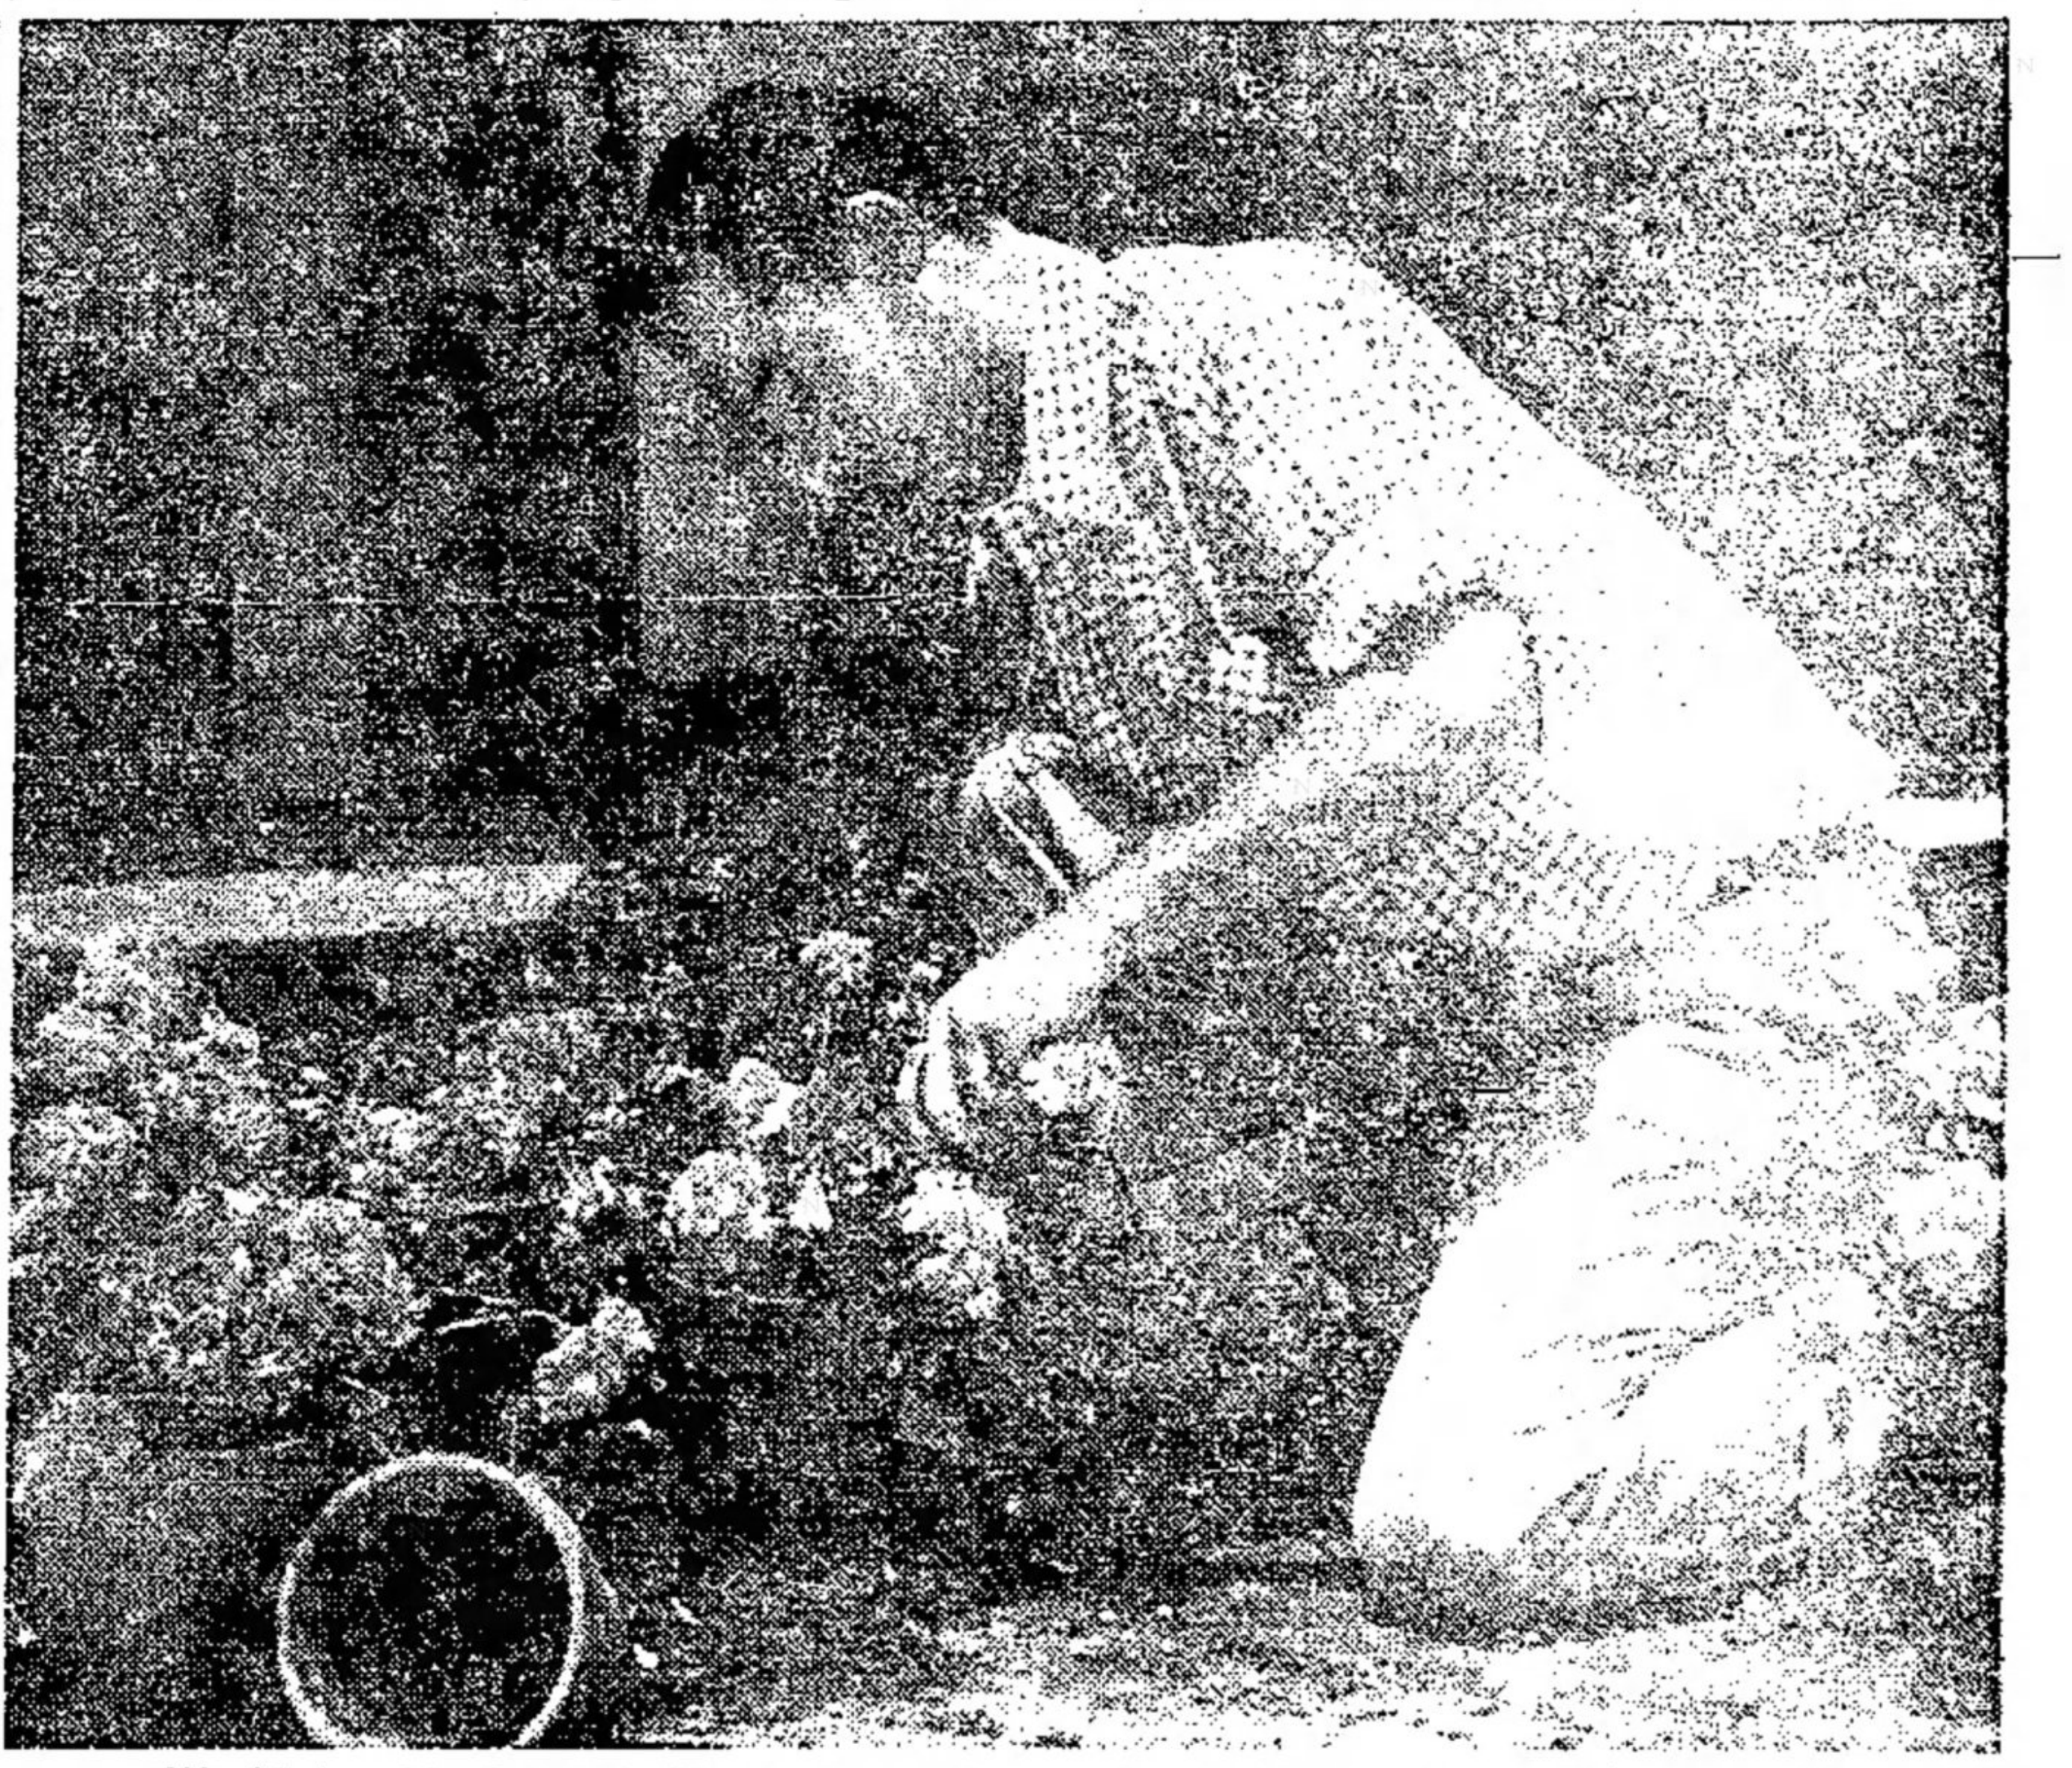
BIRDS SING—'TIS SPRING!

IF YOU WERE ASKED to pick out a scene that symbolized the return of spring to the land, which one would it be? Our photographer came up with these as being among his favorites. Of course, there are others—kids skipping rope in the neighborhood schoolyard, a boy and his dog walking down a country road while watching the shadows flit by or a golfer taking a few practic[illegible] before teeing off at the public or private course. Others might be the bright-eyed look of a spring bride or the weary expression of someone caught in the midst of the annual cleanup, paint-up routine. Spring is the bugler who awakens the months from their slumber.



For her, spring is a time for wistful wondering.



Working with the soil, this homemaker is beautifying garden in his front yard.

On a bright spring day, these lambs stretch their legs and gambol in the field.

'DADDY, I LOVE YOU' — "Daddy, I love you," is six-year-old Hildy's word for her adopted father, Melvin B. Ellis, as she gives him a hug and kiss in Miami Beach, Fla. Mrs. Ellis (left) beams. All this happiness results from Florida's Gov. Leroy Collins deciding against extradition to Massachusetts for the Ellises. Massachusetts has a kidnap charge against them. They spirited Hildy away when Hildy's mother wanted to have the adoption rescinded because the Ellises are of the Jewish faith.

Billy Graham Pleased

(Billy Graham reviews the progress of his revival in the following story.)

NEW YORK (UP) — The crusade in New York City has already surpassed our expectations. We had prepared and prayed for two years that the curse of spiritual indifference might be cracked in this city, but we were never prepared for the floodtide of spiritual renewal that we are now witnessing.

New York has been termed a city of sophistication and cynicism, but we have found a deep spiritual longing here that is beyond anything we have ever witnessed anywhere in the world.

There were many voices warning that New York could not be touched and that people here would not respond. The people here are no different from those in any village or town across America. Their needs, longings and desires for peace, joy and reality are just as intense on Times Square or in Greenwich Village as they are in Detroit, Minneapolis, or Houston. Perhaps their intensity is even greater, because millions of people in New York are tired of the rush of life. Frustrated and bewildered by the overwhelming social ills of a great city, many feel that they are only a cog in so much machinery. They have almost lost their identity. They are searching, questing and desperately trying to find the answers to life.

During the first two-and-a-half weeks we have seen nearly 10,000 people receive Christ into their hearts. This is by far the largest response we have ever seen anywhere in the world. There is only one plausible explanation for this unprecedented acceptance of Christ—there is a spiritual hunger here that has astounded even ministers who have been here for many years. Secondly, the churches of the city are probably more united than at any time in recent history. And, thirdly, Christians around the world are praying for us, and their prayers are being answered.

Three Former Nazis Expensive Prisoners

By JOSEPH FLEMING

BERLIN (UP)—The latest German political joke is that the Big Four plan to build a four-power insane asylum just for Rudolf Hess, Hitler's former deputy.

It's a commentary on the fact that three former Nazi leaders now are the only prisoners in West Berlin's Spandau Prison, an institution that once held 600 criminals.

The only ones there now are Hess, Nazi Munitions Minister Albert Speer and youth leader Baldur von Schirach. Four other top Nazis, jailed with them in 1946 at the Nuernberg war trials, have been released.

Germans Foot Bill

It is now costing $214,283 a year to run the prison for three. The Germans must pay it as occupation costs. American, British, French and Soviet army units take month's turns guarding the exterior of the prison.

Inside is a staff of 10 four-power guards as well as four wardens, one each from the four powers.

In addition, there is a housekeeping staff of 41. This includes 16 cooks and kitchen helpers, four waiters, six maids, three janitors and 12 cleaning women.

The idea that it was necessary to devote an entire prison to just seven men took root in 1945 when the four powers were very security conscious. They envisaged the possibility of the Nazi underground plotting to free the former leaders.

Believe Hess Insane

The four powers also thought there might be additional trials and more prisoners to guard.

Neither eventuality came to pass and the conviction is growing that Spandau should be shut down and the three Nazis moved to another prison. Some say Hess should be in an insane asylum.

The Western powers and the Soviets have felt each other out on the question but never have gotten down to serious talks on it. But, as a Western official said recently:

"It is obvious that the matter is bound to come up for discussion on a very high level some day.'"

You Can Say She Just Don't Like Chickens

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Frances DeSantis has always loved cats and up until Thursday had no special opinion of chickens. Today she loves cats but hates chickens.

Mrs. DeSantis went to a poultry market near her home Thursday to buy some scraps for neighborhood cats. She entered from the rear of the store and the proprietor didn't notice her.

Minutes after the proprietor closed up shop to take his Memorial Day holiday. That left Mrs. DeSantis all alone — unless you want to count 1600 clucking chickens for company.

Police arrived after Mrs. DeSantis knocked for four hours on the door.

"There's no one here but the chickens — and Frances DeSantis," the 65-year-old woman said. "I never want to see chickens again," she said on her release. "I'm going home to make myself a plate of spaghetti."

Rounds at Quemoy

TAIPEI (UP)—Communist Chinese artillery fired 462 rounds at the Nationalist offshore islands of Quemoy and Little Quemoy Thursday, killing one Nationalist Chinese soldier.

A defense ministry communique said the casualty was [illegible] this year.

The word salary comes from since Roman soldiers received "salarium" meaning salt money, part of their pay in salt.

To Study Scholarship Plan

HARRISBURG (UP)—Four state legislators will meet with representatives of four state-aided universities in an effort to increase the value of the Commonwealth's senatorial scholarships.

A resolution adopted unanimously by the Senate this week authorized the appointment of a bipartisan team of senators to confer with the heads of the universities of Pennsylvania, Temple, Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania State.

The scholarships vary in value at each of the schools. At Penn State the scholarships are worth $100, while valued at $225 at Temple and Pittsburgh and $300 at the University of Pennsylvania.

Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington) pointed out that tuitions at the institutions range from $485 at Penn State to $1.000 annually at the University of Pennsylvania.

'Blood Factor' Traces Mankind

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — The odd "Diego blood factor" has provided new hints of how the human race distributed itself over the earth hundreds of thousands of years ago when mankind left no other trace.

One new hint is that the Polynesians of the South Pacific must have originated from the land which now is India. The other new hint is the aborigines of Australia perhaps originated from the same land.

The present day differences between the beautiful brown-skinned Polynesians and the dumpy black Australian aborigines are striking. If they originated from a common source, quite different things have happened to them since.

How the "diego blood factor" applies to them both is that neither seem to have it. To have it in one's blood indicates — although not conclusively — racial origin in western Asia.

Private Blood Group

It was first discovered in 1954, in the blood of Indian - white half casts of Venezuela. It seemed a "private blood group" until large numbers of samplings among various racial components of North and South America, suggested it was a fascinating clue to some of the remote beginnings of human beings.

So far it has not been found in any unmixed member of the Caucasian races or in any unmixed descendant of the colored peoples who originated — so far as is known — in Africa. But it has been found in rather high percentages in pure American Indians and in Indian - white and Indian-Negro mixtures.

Since it also is found in high percentages in the blood of Chinese and Japanese, the long-held surmise that American Indians have common ancestors who crossed from Asia to Alaska over a no-longer-existing land bridge, was given an impressive factual confirmation.

Contradiction Develops

But one difficulty with the confirmation is that a seeming contradiction has developed. Whereas the Diego factor has now been shown to be common in the bloods of six South American Indian tribes, in the bloods of mixed people of Venezuela and Brazil, in the blood of at least one North American tribe, the Chippewas, there is evidence that Eskimos do not have it.

At any rate, blood samples from 156 Eskimos of Hudson Bay, Baffinland, and Labrador, revealed no Diego factor. That raises the question of where did the Eskimos come from if they are not descendants of migrating Asian tribes ? But 156 make a small sample and the Eskimos may yet be fitted into the picture.

Water Battle At University Ends in Riot

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — A battle of the water buckets at the University of Illinois slopped to a halt early today, leaving the Champaign County Jail overflowing with 50 tear-gassed students.

All 50 were charged with unlawful assembly after a riot in which more than 3,500 students participated.

Police from five neighboring counties were called in to quash the revolt which started harmlessly enough Thursday night as a water fight, and later swelled into a raging stream of students which threatened to engulf the entire town.

Three persons, including Champaign County Sheriff Everett J. Hedrick, were manhandled by the students and suffered minor injuries.

Holdup in the Red

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UP)—There's a holdup man hereabouts who knows crime not only doesn't pay but can cost. Police said the man slapped a $20 bill on the counter of a motel office to avoid suspicion before attempting a hotel robbery but fled when the manager put up a fight—and left the $20 behind.

Tooth Trades

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—A 72-year-old woman complained to police Tuesday that a burglar had stolen her set of false teeth and left his own set in an unfair exchange. The woman's false teeth were studded with gold crowns and bridges; the burglar's were a cheap set.

Unleashes Attack on Slackness

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham unleashed an angry attack on religious slackness Thursday night and said modern Christians "rob God" of the financial and spiritual tithes due him.

"God definitely directed that 'one-tenth shall be mine,'" the 38-year-old evangelist said in a sharply-worded sermon on the commandment, "Thou shalt not steal."

"Most supposedly good Christians ignore what God said. We have abandoned the word 'tithe' for 'offering' in our churches but the way I look at it, a tithe calls for a bare minimum of 10 per cent for God's work and an offering should be more."

Graham delivered his fifteenth New York Crusade srmon in Madison Square Garden before a near-capacity crowd of 17,500. In the audience were representatives of Chicagoland Youth for Christ and 700 persons from the Boston area who came here on a special train sponsored by the New England Fellowship and other religious groups.

Lifeboat Race

NEW YORK (UP) — A crew from the Norwegian - American liner Stavangerfjord won a boat race in the Hudson River Thursday, but not in their trans-Atlantic liner. The crew negotiated a lifeboat over a choppy one - mile course in nine minutes, 30 seconds to edge out a crew from the U.S. tanker Esso Brooklyn and win the annual life boat rowing race.

Catholic Spokesman Explains His Attitude on Billy Graham

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Rev. John E. Kelly said today he was voicing a "long-established" rule of the Roman Catholic Church, not a personal prejudice, when he warned Catholics to stay away from Billy Graham's revival meetings.

Mr. Cassels

Kelly is information director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, a position in which he often serves anonymously as a spokesman for the official Catholic position. To his surprise, he found his own name in the headlines recently because of an article he had written for the magazine Homiletic and Pastoral Review, which is circulated primarily to Catholic priests.

The magazine article, which was widely quoted in newspapers, described Graham's preaching as a "danger to the faith" and asserted that Catholics should not attend the Graham "crusade" in New York, even out of curiosity.

Kelly, a friendly Irishman from Rochester, N. Y., said in an interview today that he had no idea that his comments about Graham would attract so much attention, and stir up so much controversy.

Receives Much Mail

He said he has been receiving "a great deal of mail," from Catholics as well as Protestants, denouncing his stand and accusing him of bigotry. A spokesman for the Catholic diocese of Providence, R. I., said publicly that Kelly spoke for himself and not for the church.

Kelly acknowledged that he acted on his own initiative in writing the article. But he said the views he expressed carried considerably more authority than his private opinion.

Graham, in commenting on Kelly's article earlier this month, said that "the Catholic church has always been as friendly and as tolerant as their church law will allow" toward his crusades. He later said that a number of Catholic priests have been attending his New York meetings "even though it is impossible for them to give official sanction."

Kelly took strong exception to the implication that his church, while technically upholding a ban on attendance at any Protestant service, actually sees no harm in Catholics listening to Graham's sermons.

Some Doctrines Coincide

He said that while some of Graham's doctrines coincide with Catholic beliefs, others do not. For example, he said, Graham is "silent to the extreme" about the Virgin Mary; he does not share Catholic views on the authority of the priesthood or the nature of sacraments; and he does not recognize the claim of the Catholic church to be the "one true church" established by Christ.

Wouldn't it be possible for a devout Catholic to listen to Graham, profit from the preaching that is in accord with Catholic beliefs, and ignore any doctrine that his church considers false?

"Billy Graham is a forceful and persuasive preacher," said Kelly. "His sermons are so well constructed, and the true and false doctrines are so interwoven, that even a fairly well-instructed Catholic may be deceived. Catholics who attend his services run a real risk to the integrity of their faith."

Kelly said Graham advises his converts to attend "the church of your choice" and implies that "one church is as good as another." This, said the priest, is directly contrary to the tenets of Catholicism.

Says Catholics Not Better

"To a Catholic, there is no such thing as 'the church of your choice.' You don't worship God as you please, but as God pleases. You choose the church Christ set up as the one true church to continue his teaching and saving powers. The one church which can trace its origin to St. Peter and through him to Christ himself is not only 'as good as' others but better."

Kelly said he did not mean that individual Catholics are "better" than Protestants, or that members of other churches cannot be saved.

"Many Protestants lead more holy lives than some Catholics who fail to live up to the teachings of their church," he said. "Anybody who sincerely believes that he is worshipping God in the way God wants, who lives up to the graces God gives him, who follows a right conscience, is loved by God and will surely be saved."

But respecting the sincerity of another person's convictions is quite different from holding all religions to be equally true, he continued.

"We Americans don't apply the 'one's as good as another' idea in any other phase of life. We don't think that one automobile, or breakfast food, or newspaper is as good as every other one. Why should it be true of religion?"

Matter of Consistency

The interviewer commented that some Protestants felt it was "inconsistent" for Catholics to invite them to listen to Bishop Fulton J. Sheen's broadcasts, when Catholics are forbidden to listen to Graham or any other Protestant preacher.

Kelly said it was a matter of each being "consistent" with his own beliefs.

"The intellectual basis of Protestantism is private judgement. With this as a premise, Protestants are essentially seekers after the truth. A Protestant therefore violates no religious principle by listening to a Catholic sermon.

"Catholicism, on the other hand, is a religion based on the authority of God's revelation as taught by Jesus and the church he founded. Catholics believe that they don't have to seek after the truth—it is already available to them in the teachings and sacraments of the church.

Two American Students Feared Kidnap Victims

VIENNA (UP)—Austrian authorities said today two American students who disappeared while taking a tourists' peek at the heavily-fortified Austro - Hungarian border were feared kidnaped by Hungary's Communist police.

Austrian police identified them as Myron A. Gilbert, 20, and Warren William Hair, 20. Their home towns were not known immediately and the U.S. Embassy had not yet been officially notified of their disappearance.

An official attached to the state police in Burgenland Province bordering Hungary said the two Americans had been missing since Sunday. He said police were notified of the disappearance by an Austrian girl tentatively identified as Buy de Peron.

'Flanders Field' on Legion Home Lawn

A "Flanders Field" in miniature on the lawn of the American Legion Home, Broad Ave., marks another observance of the local Legion Post 659.

The idea was conceived a few years ago by Mrs. Lily Wells and since that time the "white crosses have been arranged row on row" and decorated with poppies. American Flags and markers indicating the wars in which this country has participated.

The display was arranged particularly for Memorial Day, but will remain intact for another week.

Tribute Paid to War Dead At B. V. Cemetery Yesterday

Tribute was paid to the Belle Vernon war dead and there was an impressive memorial for all those who have gone yesterday morning at the Belle Vernon Cemetery.

The American Legion Post 659 arranged the observance which began with a parade starting at 10:30 on Main St. proceeding up State and Broad and to the cemetery by way of Fayette and Jean St. Belle Vernon Burgess William Venneri, a past post commander, was parade marshall.

In line of march were the military honor guard, Toner and Venneri in an open car followed by members of the Legion and Ladies Auxiliary in cars. The Legion caisson and jeep unit was followed by a marching unit of Legionnaires.

A combination of the Bellmar High School Band and Belle Vernon Musical Society Band was headed by Darlene Johnston and followed by a large marching unit of uniformed North Belle Vernon Firemen.

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 6 was accompanied by the leader, Mrs. William J. Myers and immediately preceded the two North Belle Vernon fire trucks, two Belle Vernon Fire Co. No. 2 trucks and the Blue and Gold Cadet squad car. Enroute the procession stopped briefly before the Honor Roll.

At the veteran's plot in the Belle Vernon cemetery the memorial program was presented. Harold R. Toner presided and there was a short talk by Post Commander Andy Luzanski.

Chaplain Clair Brown offered a memorial prayer before the guest speaker, the Rev. Joseph Wittkofski, of St. Mary Episcopal Church, was introduced. The Rev. Mr. Wittkofski, a past State Legion Chaplain, who was closely affiliated with America's men at war during World War 2 paid tribute to the deceased veterans of all wars, who gave up their lives so that others might live in freedom and security.

A memorial wreath was placed at the plot as a Legion memorial and Al Franks called the roll of the dead after which the firing squad paid their salute tribute. Clair Brown gave the closing prayer. Milan Franceshi placed the wreath.

In the early morning the firing squad and several other Legionnaires made a trip to Rehoboth Cemetery and to Gibsonton Cemetery and conducted a brief memorial tribute.

The Legionnaires placed flags and flowers on the graves of the veterans buried in all three plots.

In loving memory of our dear husband, father, and grandfather, Frank Parnella, who died seven years ago today, May 31, 1950.
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Wife, Children and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother Mrs. Mary Mascetta, who died 14 years ago, April 26, 1943 and our dear father and grandfather Santo Mascetta who died 15 years ago, May 29, 1942.
Memories are treasures no one can steal.
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal.
Loved dearly in life and living yet
In the hearts of the ones that will never forget.
Sadly missed by daughter, Lena Ingant Balcin, grandsons and granddaughters

Movie Siren Really Good Businesswoman

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) —One of the sharpest business minds in town—a stock market customer who owns oil wells, apartments, land, a nightclub and a factory—belongs, not to a middle-aged man, but to a beautiful movie siren, Elaine Stewart.

On celluloid Elaine is a sultry beauty with long, brown hair who plays not-too-bright glamour girls and other women ("The Bad And The Beautiful").

She seldom talks about it, but a dig into her personal life discloses that underneath it all she's the brainy, executive type.

"Well, you look at acting in a realistic light," explained Elaine. "I like what I'm doing, but do I want to sit around studios all my life? I decided to get into business, too."

Started From Scratch

Elaine started to save her pennies when she first came to Hollywood. She lived in a modest $40-a-month apartment and went without a car. A friend in the stock market helped Elaine invest her savings from her salary at MGM, where she was under contract at the time.

"I got in pictures during the slow side of the movie business but on the stock market everything started booming. My htock tripled," she said.

She next moved on to buy two apartment houses and open a small nightclub at nearby Malibu Beach, "The Cottage." She bought a tract of land near Palm Springs and soon will cash in on the desert boom by subdividing it into lots.

She is manufacturing facial masks and a make-up that she perfected. She turned independent producer and plans to make her own movies and TV films, the first being "Tramp Athlete," the life story of Stanley ("Bow-Wow") Wojtkiewicz, ex-husband of columnist Sheilah Graham.

"I hope to build my own studio in the desert," she added casually.

Drilling Oil Wells

While more famous stars were worrying over how to pay their income taxes this spring, beautiful Elaine was drilling four oil wells in Texas. To make us spendthrifts feel worse, she hit a gusher with the first one recently.

"I like my double life," Elaine grinned. "The movie crowd doesn't know about my business activities. The business crowd seems fascinated by the idea that a young actress would be interested in business.

"Having this independence, I don't care if my studio (UI) puts me on suspension if I don't get the right part."

Elaine is smart in another way. She tries to keep her brains under cover.

"I try not to spill the beans and discuss my business affairs with men," she said. "But if it comes out, they're always so amazed that I know about the stockmarket!

"However, a girl should not throw it around that she's in business or she'll appear mannish.

'Kemo Saby' Means Faithful Friend

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Jay Silverheels, who plays the role of Tonto in the "Lone Ranger" series, says children ask him most frequently the meaning of "Kemo Saby," one of the Lone Ranger's names for him.

The full-blooded Mohawk says it means faithful friend or trusty scout in an Indian language.

Created in 1953 in the first year of the Eisenhower Administration, the Small Business Administration, in three years, made over 6,500 loans totaling $175 million, nearly 4,000 of which were for rehabilitation in disaster areas.

Disposable Hypo Needle Now More Widely Used

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A more widespread use of disposable hypodermic needles is among the medical advances I would like to discuss today in our monthly review of medicine.

While there certainly is nothing wrong with reusing properly cleaned, sterilized and resharpened needles, staffs of some hospitals may be too busy to do the jobs properly.

For this reason, some hospitals are turning to disposable hypodermic needles which are used once and then thrown away.

The chief reason behind this move is to eliminate the possibility of contaminated needles spreading infectious hepatitis and other cross-infections.

There is also a new use for an old drug in today's news. For many years, Nupercainal ointment has been used extensively to treat the itching, burning and pain of hemorrhoids and pruritis ani.

Now the ointment has been produced in suppository form for easier usage and more accurate control of dosage. Both morning and evening doses are generally advised.

A brand-new preparation, Ketonil, is reported to be effective in cases of phenylketonuria. This is a condition in which mental deficiency is associated with the inability of the body to metabolize, or utilize, one of the essential amino acids, phenylalanine.

A youngster with phenylketonuria may show symptoms resembling those of various neurologic diseases ranging from cerebral palsy to epilepsy.

Since phenylalanine is a normal component of protein foods, simply eliminating proteins from the diet would eliminate the disturbing element. Obviously, this is impossible.

So Ketonil has been developed. It provides proteins needed for growth with the exception of phenylalanine.

More than 8,000 Maine fishermen annually catch a quarter billion pounds of seafood.

Iran Village Burned

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—Bandits burned a village and killed two persons today in the area where three Americans were ambushed and killed in March.

Observers said the raid was in retaliation against Mirak villagers who helped police search for the Dad Shah bandit gang which killed Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Carroll and Brewster Webster of the U.S. Point Four plan.

111,000 POUNDS TAKING OFF FROM SHEET OF ICE — A giant KC-97 tanker weighing 111,000 pounds makes a real cool takeoff from a sheet of sea ice 49 inches thick near Thule, Greenland. It's part of an experiment conducted by the Air Research and Development Command to demonstrate feasibility of using ice sheets in coastal Polar areas. This one, 11,000 feet long, was prepared by four men in two days with nothing but pickaxes for tools and inner tubes for markers.

Jerry Lewis' Dad Real Proud

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A new show business career will begin for an 11-year-old schoolboy, Gary Lewis, and an old one will be revived for his grandfather, Danny Lewis, on television June 8.

This double event will grace Jerry Lewis' second NBC-TV show as a single because he's the father of Gary and the son of Danny. The idea of helping his son start in show business seemed a natural for a program near Father's Day because Jerry will be repeating an incident from his own life.

"I did a number, 'Sonny Boy,' with my dad 25 years ago in vaudeville—that's how I got started," Jerry explained during a three-way interview with the Lewis clan at the comedian's home.

The Show Business Disease

Jerry's two guest stars appear overwhelmed by their new jobs, indicating show business is a disease that once contracted hangs on for life. At the Lewis home Jerry's father was happily thumbing through photographs of the trio taken during rehearsal.

"Aren't these wonderful? For 30 years I was in vaudeville, clubs, radio," said the elder Lewis, who is young and good-looking enough to be Jerry's brother.

"I played the Palace Theater in New York in 1953, my act was 'Songs In A Nostalgic Manner'. Then Jerry went in there four years later—singing my same song, 'Sonny Boy'. His Jolson-type songs, you know, are what I used to do. When you hear us sing you can't tell us apart.

"My wife, Rose, accompanied me in vaudeville and when Jerry was eight he got in the act. I didn't want him in show business because I'd had lean years and I didn't want him to struggle but he got through to his mother.

"Before we turned around he was 18 and a married man, then with Dean Martin and a big star. We're still pinching ourselves. It's like a dream."

Five years ago Danny gave up his act to help Jerry manage his records. How does the elder Lewis feel about having his son pass him up in the fame sweepstakes?

"Everybody likes recognition, sure I'd like my name on a marquee," admitted Danny. "I'm proud to be Jerry's father but when people introduce me as his father — well, I'd like them to know my name."

In Recent Movie

Recently the elder Lewis got another boost when a friend asked him to play "a nostalgic piano player" in "Short Cut To Hell" at Paramount.

"And Jerry didn't know about it until he read the papers," Danny added proudly.

"Hey this is my interview," broke in grandson Gary.

"I'm going to be like my dad. I want to be just like him. Dad has taught me how to get the right notes when I sing. We're going to be dressed exactly alike on the show—tuxedoes! With the money I get I'm getting a new set of drums."

Jerry regards the family excitement with affectionate amusement.

"If Gary has it, I'll do my best to help his career," said Jerry. "And Dad, that old hambone, he's having a great time."

Public Park Near Horse Shoe Curve

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has approved plans of the Pennsylvania Railroad to lease an area at its famed Horse Shoe Curve to the city of Altoona for a public park.

Officials of both the city and railroad had asked the commission for quick action on its request because the park is scheduled for dedication June 8.

The railroad also will present the city a steam locomotive as a monument for the park, which will be located in Logan Twp., Blair County.

275 Males Killed In One Village by Algerian Raiders

ALGIERS, Algeria (UP)— A band of Algerian extremists killed all 275 male inhabitants of the tiny village of Neluza, 115 miles southeast of Algiers, while the families of the victims watched in terror Thursday, it was reported today.

News of the massacre was brought by terrified women and children to a nearby French garrison.

According to the reports, the raiders stormed into the village and embarked on an orgy of bloodletting. The reports said none of the 275 males in the village escaped the slaughter.

The raiders slit the throats of their victims before the eyes of wives and children.

The women and children fled 27 miles to Bordj Bou Arreridj where a French garrison is stationed. French troops rushed to Neluza but the raiders had disappeared.

It was believed the mass killing stemmed from rivalry between the extremist national liberation front movement and the Algerian nationalist movement, and older and less extreme organization. The raiders were believed to be members of the national liberation front.
